Trail Smelter, Kimberley, Pay Top Wages

OTTAWA (CP)—The revenue department's taxation statistics review for 1951, released here today, shows that residents of Trail and Kimberley, B.C., had the highest average incomes in the country in 1951. The average was $3,486, well above that of many of the large cities. Victoria placed 22nd on the national list with an average income of $3,169.

Trail and Kimberley succeeded Lethbridge, Alta., as the area of Canada where the best average salaries are paid. Lethbridge headed the list in 1950 with an average income of $3,312.

Trail and Kimberley jumped from eighth place in 1950 to first place in 1951. Lethbridge fell from first to ninth place. The review showed that Shawinigan Falls, Que., was in second place in 1951 with an average income of $3,433. St. John's, Nfld., was third with $3,348 and Montreal was fourth with $3,330. Vancouver was in sixth place, Toronto in 11th place and Winnipeg in 38th place.

In 1950, Montreal was in second place, followed by St. Thomas, Ont., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and St. John's.

Ottawa was in 20th place in 1951 with an average income of $3,173. However, Hull, across the Ottawa River, was in 50th place with $2,731.

Canadians paid $2,555,890,089 income tax in the government financial year which ended March 31.

Individual taxpayers forked over $1,225,275,562, while corporations came through with $1,266,556,794.

'Instigators' Returned By Reds

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A hundred fit Americans rode eagerly from Red captivity today—three of them men their buddies had feared would be kept in North Korean jails on phony charges.

One returning prisoner said 45 more Americans sentenced only a month ago to prison terms were in the Red group camp at nearby Kaesong, awaiting release.

Freed Americans have told of prisoners jailed by the Reds in late July when the armistice was signed on such charges as "instigating against peace."

Their sentences ranged from one to three years. However, three of the "convicted" came back in Thursday's group of 250 South Koreans and 150 Americans.

The exchange, limited to 30 days by the truce agreement, begins its last week Friday, with 144 more Americans scheduled for freedom. The Reds said they also would hand over 250 South Koreans, four British and two South Africans.

She received a majority of the votes cast in the 60-nation political committee, but fell short of the two-thirds majority required for approval by the general assembly which acts Friday.

The vote was 27 for, 21 against, 11 abstaining and India not participating. It was a victory for the United States, which had split with Britain, Canada and other Western Allies over the issue and fought vigorously against India's inclusion.

The committee also: 1. Recommended seats at the conference for all the 16 countries who fought under the UN banner—if they desire to attend. The vote was 42 to 7, with 10 abstaining and India not voting. 2. Voted to include Russia in the parley "provided the other side desires it." The vote was 55 to 2 with two abstaining.

4. Gave the United States the authority to consult with the two sides and work out arrangements as to the time and place of the conference. Geneva is generally considered the most likely site. 5. Recommended that no decisions of the conference be binding on countries which do not agree to them. This means any of the countries of the conference would have a veto.

14 COUNTRIES Under the committee's discussions, the conference could be expected to include Red China, North Korea and Russia on the Communist side, and South Korea and probably 10 other countries on the UN side. Some of the 16 countries which sent troops to Korea have indicated they will not participate.

The 60-nation committee acted after U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge declared that Russia's attitude on the Korean parley, if persisted in, would "make peace impossible."

Lodge said Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky had made a thinly-veiled threat Wednesday that the Communists would boycott the conference unless they get their way in naming the participating countries. Vishinsky denied he had made any such threat.

The committee went on to adopt an American-backed proposal recommending that all the 16 countries who fought under the UN banner should take part in the conference if they desire.

Canadian In Golf Semifinals

MONTREAL (BUP)—Don Doe of Granby, Que., became the first Canadian to reach the semifinals of the national amateur golf tournament today when he eliminated Scotty Fraser, 17-year-old University of Florida student, 6 and 5.

Don Silverberg of Red Deer, Alta., scraped through with a fifth round win. Silverberg, a former national junior champion, beat J. L. Morgan, a member of the British Walker Cup team, 3 and 1.

Biggest upset of the fifth round was a 4 and 3 win by R. C. MacGregor of Scotland over Joe Carr, the British amateur champion from Dublin, Ireland. Carr, the star of the 10-man British Walker Cup team, was the pre-tournament favorite.

The second charge against the Argentina-born singer, came at the close of a five-hour hearing Wednesday before special immigration inquiry officer Joseph A. Dummel and examining officer Thomas J. Nolan.

The new charge accused Haymes of violating the McCarran-Walter Act by failing to notify immigration officials annually of his address and other information, prior to Feb. 1, 1953.

Haymes disclosed that when he was 21 he married Edith Harper, a singer at Chicago's Sherman Hotel, in 1930. "It was only for two or three weeks," Haymes explained. "She divorced me in Little Rock, Ark. I had just forgotten we were ever married."

Thus actress Joanne Dru was his second wife and Nora Edington, Flynn Haymes, who now is suing him for divorce, was his third.

'COMING OVER HERE'

Bishop Sees Reds Planning Conquest

By PETE LOUDON

"The Chinese Reds are quite convinced that they are coming over here. They have it all planned."

That is the opinion of Roman Catholic Bishop Martin Cuthbert O'Garra, 67, recently repatriated after two years in a humid, stench-filled, flea-infested prison camp in Hunan province in south-central China.

He was a political prisoner until illness set him free. Resting in St. Joseph's Hospital today, the 67-year-old Ottawa-born dignitary painted a word-picture of filth and degradation that was his most desperate trial in a life often previously touched by terror.

This was the first occasion he has been well enough to tell his story since flying here from a Hong Kong hospital, July 19. Bishop O'Garra's long-standing feud with Communism culminated when the Reds ordered that his followers renounce Catholicism and join the puppet national church.

The bishop fought back. He posted notices of excommunication to those who deserted the church. This brought 40 jeering soldiers who herded him and five other priests into the mission chapel to watch it defiled.

He was dragged before the altar where his cross and clothing were torn from him. The bishop fought back. He posted notices of excommunication to those who deserted the church. This brought 40 jeering soldiers who herded him and five other priests into the mission chapel to watch it defiled.

Crooner Haymes Admits To Third Marriage

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP)—Crooner Dick Haymes today faced a new federal charge that could force his deportation after "he remembered" a brief and previously unpublished marriage.

Haymes already faces possible deportation for visiting Rita Hayworth in Hawaii.

The second charge against the Argentina-born singer, came at the close of a five-hour hearing Wednesday before special immigration inquiry officer Joseph A. Dummel and examining officer Thomas J. Nolan.

The new charge accused Haymes of violating the McCarran-Walter Act by failing to notify immigration officials annually of his address and other information, prior to Feb. 1, 1953.

LRB MOVES TO AVERT SHIP STRIKE

6,500 Seamen May Go Out

From CP and UP Dispatches

MONTREAL—The Canadian labor relations board may call union and shipping company representatives together in an attempt to avert a threatened strike by some 6,500 Canadian seamen employed on inland and deep-sea ships.

This step, it was learned today in shipping circles, may be taken to avoid the threat of a coast-to-coast tie-up of more than 300 lake and sea-going vessels manned by members of the Seafarers' International Union AFL-TLC.

Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Steamships, which operate 20 coastal passenger vessels manned by SIU members, reached an agreement with the union May 21 and do not figure in the present dispute.

The strike threat arose Wednesday when the SIU announced rejection of conciliation board recommendations on the wages and working conditions of 6,500 of the union's membership of 8,000.

UNSATISFACTORY

Hal Banks, SIU international vice-president, termed the arbitration recommendations "entirely unsatisfactory" and today announced the strike vote among union members would start Monday at 11 a.m. Meanwhile, it was reported from Halifax that voting already is in progress among 1,200 seagoing members in the maritime port.

The report recommended a reduction in the seamen's work week from 56 to 48 hours on Sept. 1; to 44 hours on April 1, 1954, and to 40 hours by next August.

Officials of four shipping companies which might be affected by a strike met in Montreal today but made no comment.

A spokesman said the companies are continuing their study of the conciliation board reports. Further meetings are expected.

The shipping concerns are Canada Steamship Lines with 60 ships, the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Steamships Company with 30 SIU-manned ships, N. M. Paterson & Sons which has 32 vessels and Colonial Steamships.

61-YEAR-OLD U.S. WOMAN FLIES ATLANTIC

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Mrs. Marian Hart, 61-year-old American sportsman, flew a single-engine sports plane non-stop across the Atlantic today in 13 1/2 hours.

It was the first direct crossing in a small, single-engine plane from Newfoundland to Ireland since the pioneering days of trans-Atlantic flight.

Mrs. Hart, from New York, said she planned the flight to save the cost of taking the wings off her Beechcraft and sending it across by ship.

Jury's Verdict Based On Wife's Testimony

GASPE, Que. (BUP)—A coroner's jury today found 37-year-old Wilbert Coffin, a Gaspe prospector, responsible for the deaths of three bear hunters from Holidaysburg, Pa., and police said he would be arraigned tomorrow on murder charges.

The verdict came after 47 minutes of deliberation after the inquest had been reopened for a brief session. His wife had testified that it was Coffin who gave her and her family some of the goods belonging to the murdered men.

Coffin had been held as a material witness while police continued their investigation. He was believed to have been the last person known to have seen the Americans alive, and he had helped police in their search of the Gaspe wilderness where the bodies were found.

Marion Petrie, who police said was commonly known as Mrs. Wilbert Coffin, told a coroner's jury that Coffin gave her an automatic pistol and gave her brother, Harold, a fuel pump two days after the three men from Holidaysburg, Pa., were slain in the Gaspe bush.

The woman also said she found two sets of towels, a knife and other equipment the slain trio had carried into the bush.

Robbery of the $1,000 the elder Lindsey carried was believed to have been the motive for the grisly slayings.

Capt. J. Alphonse Matte, chief of the Quebec provincial police homicide squad, told reporters Wednesday night on the eve of the inquest: "New facts that have not been made known so far will be disclosed at the inquest."

All three hunters came from Holidaysburg, Pa. Parts of their bodies were found early in July scattered along a trail frequented by the Gaspe's 400-pound black bears. It was known definitely that the two younger men had been shot before the bears got to them.

The European-made pistol was found in a home in Montreal north on a tip from the mystery woman. From that discovery, police later found a pair of binoculars, a hunting knife and other equipment the slain trio had carried into the bush.

Bradley Wants Joint Canada-U.S. Force

American General Calls for Top-Level Talks Between St. Laurent, Eisenhower on Question

NEW YORK (CP)—General Omar Bradley called Wednesday for formation of a continental defense command to include the navies, armies and air forces of Canada and the United States and suggested a top-level meeting between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister St. Laurent to work it out.

Gen. Bradley said at present there is a cordial working relationship between the military leaders of the two countries, but the time has come for clear agreements at the highest level. The issues are too large and time too pressing for "us to let this drift along in routine negotiation."

Bradley, who recently retired as chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, made the suggestion in the concluding article of a series he wrote for the Saturday Evening Post dealing with U.S. defense.

General Bradley urges the pushing of aerial defenses, including radar warning networks, northward into Canada "as fast as we can without leaving gaps or holes for the enemy to play tricks in." As defenses move north "the navy must extend the watch on the ocean flanks."

He suggests the recruiting of battalions equipped with the U.S. army's new anti-aircraft weapon, the Nike, a guided missile named for the Greek goddess of victory. It is described as capable of reaching higher than any known bomber can fly.

At Ottawa, defense officials declined to comment.

DANGERS BESET HIKERS

other thorny shrubs clawed at us; on several occasions I was obliged to hack away at the dense vegetation covering the trail with a hunting knife in order to see where we were walking.

DANGEROUS GOING

Then we were confronted with a series of creeks and chasms bridged with logs and improvised ladders which have not been tested for safety for two years. In some cases windfalls had smashed the makeshift bridges, making progress extremely difficult.

The numerous creeks and chasms we encountered came as a surprise to us as the topographical map showed only about four creeks to a mile. I say there are more than 20 to a mile and I feel I'm not exaggerating.

Through this overgrown trail with its many natural obstacles we climbed. At times we were glad to be able to crawl like animals under fallen timber which blocked our way.

On one occasion we came to a creek bridged as usual by a piece of timber. The butt of the log did not appear to be too secure on the opposite side of the creek. The creek was over 30 feet in depth and flanked by sheer rock walls.

It would have taken hours to go down and up this creek. So we felt there was only one thing to do and that was to test the bridge.

I took a deep breath and took a step on the log, then another and another. The log began to slip. I felt hot and cold. I closed my eyes. Nothing happened. The log had stuck. I need not say how relieved I was to reach the other side of the creek.

SAVED FROM FALL

On another occasion, West lost his footing on a slippery log. He grabbed a branch which saved him from plunging—back and all—into a 16-foot gully full of underbrush.

On one bed of a creek we discovered a cardboard note giving the names of a party of four who walked the West Coast trail in July of this year. This party included Mrs. Jack H. Wallis, of Victoria.

Mrs. Wallis deserves a lot of credit for tackling this trail.

Towards the end of the day our legs were wobbling from fatigue. Our packs were much too heavy for such a rugged trail and to make matters worse it poured with rain.

At Providence Cove, about four miles from Port Renfrew, West suggested that we sleep under a giant cedar tree. Suddenly we became conscious that we were among a stand of dying and diseased trees. The stench was suffocating and without further ado we made our way up the steep side of the cove.

From here on the trail greatly improved and by dusk we reached San Juan Point, two miles distance from Port Renfrew.

It was dark and we were drenched to the skin when we arrived at Port Renfrew. As we approached a house someone came out on the porch.

"Have you come off the trail?" she asked. "Would you like a cup of coffee?"

Nothing could have appealed to us more than coffee.

Our hostess was Mrs. John Baird. As we were about to

EISENHOWER MAY VISIT OTTAWA IN NOVEMBER

OTTAWA (CP)—The Evening Citizen said Wednesday that President Eisenhower may visit here in November. The story said "it remains only for firm dates to be set when government members return from their summer holidays next month."

It recalled that during a visit to Washington last May, Prime Minister St. Laurent invited Gen. Eisenhower to visit Ottawa, and the president accepted.

Red Parachutes Ruled Out as Clues

SMITHERS, B.C. (BUP)—The sighting of two red parachutes in the timberland near this northern British Columbia town was ruled out today in the search for a missing New Mexico oilman's private plane with five aboard.

The RCAF searchmasters said the parachutes were dropped there a year or so ago to a ground search party taking part in another mission.

A new clue replaced the old one, however, when a commercial traveler reported seeing what he believed was plane wreckage on a mountain 30 miles from here. Air searchers had covered the area, but declined to take another look today, weather permitting. Oilman Ellis Hall has been missing with his wife, two daughters and a young New Mexico friend for nearly two weeks on a flight from Alaska to Bellingham, Wash.

CHURCHILL, Man. (BUP)—The RCAF planned to intensify its search today for a Lancaster bomber missing since Saturday night with eight men aboard after a number of fires were spotted in northern Manitoba.

An air force spokesman said that the weather had closed in again at search headquarters in Churchill, but was expected to improve this afternoon.

Red Travel Ban Hits Out At Eisenhower Free Food

BERLIN (UP)—The Soviets and east German Communists today put Berlin "off limits" to all east Germans seeking to reach the city to collect "Eisenhower food parcels."

Sale of railway tickets to points within 50 miles of the city was banned.

Soviet troops were posted on roads leading to the city.

Eisenhower Congratulates Shah of Iran

DENVER (UP)—The White House today announced President Eisenhower has sent a message of encouragement to the Shah of Iran in a cable certain to be interpreted as holding promise of American assistance.

"In the spirit of the friendship which has always been the basis for the relations of our two countries," the president cabled the shah, "I offer you my sincere felicitations on the occasion of your happy return to your country."

Reporters covering the summer White House here asked the president's staff whether the message means the United States would meet the shah's request for immediate financial assistance.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerly said the White House at present had nothing to say about matters involving aid for assistance in any form.

France Relaxes Restrictions on Russian Visitors

PARIS (UP)—France has relaxed restrictions on the movement of Soviet Russian diplomats and journalists in this country. It was announced today, and well informed sources said the United States and Britain are expected to take similar action.

The Western Allies imposed the restrictions on movement of Soviet Russians in their countries in retaliation for restriction of travel by their citizens in the Soviet Union.

However, since Georgi M. Malenkov replaced Josef Stalin as premier, the Soviet restrictions have been relaxed.

Anglo-Iranian Interests May Invade Canada

AIOC Interested In Alberta Fields, Says N.Y. Times

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times says in an Ottawa dispatch today that a plan is under consideration by the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company to extend its operations to Canada.

John Mellor Pattinson, a director of the company, is returning to London after a Canadian tour to submit a proposal for possible exploitation of Alberta's rich oil fields to the AIOC directorate, the newspaper says. Pattinson spent three weeks in Alberta.

Adoption of the proposal would, for the first time in North America, put the company in competition with Canadian and U.S. oil interests.

Pattinson said it was too early to say whether Anglo-Iranian would build its own refineries on this continent, the Times reports. He is said to have indicated that any operation in Canada by the company would be largely on the production side.

The AIOC executive said that if the decision to begin operations in Canada is reached, they would begin on a relatively small scale with the hope of extending them in the future.

AIOC has been studying the possibility of operating in Alberta for a year. The D'Army Exploration Company, a subsidiary of AIOC, has had an engineer and geologist working out of Calgary and it was on the basis of their reports that the AIOC sent Pattinson to Alberta.

MONTREAL (BUP)—The Canadian National Railways system today reported July operating revenues of $63,013,000 and net revenue of $5,637,000, both up sharply from the same month last year.

Corresponding 1952 figures were $53,724,000 and $2,199,000.

London Adventure Highlights Trip Of Victoria Miss

A vivacious 17-year-old high school girl arrived in Victoria Wednesday after almost two months' absence and an all-expense trip to England.

She is Irene Trowsdale, 917 Catherine Street, who was chosen as one of two Canadian girls to attend the British Empire and Commonwealth St. John Ambulance Cadet Camp, held at Ockendon, Essex, during the first week of August.

Happy to see her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Trowsdale, Irene was full of stories of her adventures when she stepped off the afternoon steamer from Vancouver.

Best of all, she thought, were her visit to the Tower of London and her view of the Crown Jewels. She was full of talk about the exciting attractions of London, where she stayed for two of her three weeks in Britain.

Irene graduated from Victoria High School this year; will begin work in a bank in the middle of September.

It's going to be a let-down after so much traveling. "But," says Irene, "I'll be glad to get started."

SOLDIER RESCUES CHILDREN FROM CHILLIWACK FIRE

CHILLIWACK (BUP)—Fire gutted the Vedder Coffee Shop in the Chilliwack district Wednesday night, but two children were rescued from the building by a fast-thinking sapper of the Royal Canadian Engineers.

Sapper Jim Wyatt, stationed in the area, used his rifle butt to smash down a door to the bedroom occupied by the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Herberg Brind, owners of the premises.

The youngsters, 10-year-old Norma and five-year-old Gordon, were led from the smoke-filled building by the sapper as the parents saved some electrical equipment and personal belongings.

Cause of the fire remained unknown. Damage was extensive.

New, Bigger Ferry Bought For Sidney-Anacortes Run

A new, larger ferry for the Sidney-Anacortes run has been purchased by Washington State Ferries, and will go into service with opening of the summer season next year.

The ship was purchased for $301,000 from the Maryland State Road Commission, and is now on the east coast. It will be towed through the Panama to Seattle for extensive rebuilding. Its present capacity is 75 cars and 600 passengers.

Floyd J. McDowell, general manager of Washington State Ferries, estimates cost of building a new ferry of the same size would now be more than $1,000,000.

Built in 1947 by Maryland Drydock Co., Baltimore, the ferry is an all-steel double-ended, 227 feet long and 62 feet wide. It is powered by two 1,680-horsepower reversible engines, capable of producing 12 to 13 knots.

Car space is divided into six lanes, with 13-foot-high clearance.

Washington State Ferries have also called tenders for construction of a second new ferry, and bids will be opened September 18.

Quebec Police Look for Two Men in $4,000 Robbery

ST. AUGUSTIN, Que. (BUP)—Provincial police searched today for two men, one of them armed, who robbed a branch of the provincial Bank of Canada here Wednesday and escaped with $4,000.

The men entered the bank near the noon hour yesterday when a 50-year-old woman teller was alone. They cleaned out the cash drawer.

Police believed a stolen car found in the area may have been the bandits' getaway car. It was the second time the same bank has been robbed in a little over two months. Two men held up the branch on June 4 and escaped with $1,000. Police believed the same men may have staged both robberies.

St. Augustin is 25 miles northwest of Montreal.

Poor Little Hill!

You're looking at a very discouraged hill!

Ever since that ribbon of paving outlined it, it has been a challenge to motor cars.

For miles and miles it winds up the side of a mountain; and it has sharp curves, and steep grades that spring out of the curves so a driver can't get a start.

Half-way up, there's a watering place—put there so drivers can stop and refill their radiators.

Yes—it has been quite a hill. But not any more!

The driver of the car in the picture took off at the base and sailed right up to the top—and never gave it a thought.

You see, he's driving a 1953 Cadillac—with its great new high compression 210-horsepower engine—and its vastly improved Hydra-Matic Drive.

We heard recently of two men who drove from Florida to Windsor, Ontario—in a 1953 Cadillac.

The driver of the car had made this trip before—and as they left Knoxville he said to his passenger: "Man, are we going to find a hill between here and Lexington?"

After an hour or so, the passenger said: "Where is the hill?"

And the driver said: "Just wait!"

So they waited—and presently they saw a sign which read: "Lexington."

The driver was dumbfounded.

"I can't understand it!" he said. "There used to be a hill there—a big one! I know from experience."

Naturally, this great car gives you more than the ability to master hills.

When you float along with a tremendous reserve like this, you have the smoothest, quietest, easiest ride it's possible to imagine.

It gives you confidence, too—and helps you to relax—for you know you have the power for any emergency that may arise.

It makes the whole car a symphony in motion. In fact, the ride is so smooth and soothing that, not infrequently, passengers sleep as they ride.

Come in and try it for yourself. The car is waiting—and it's an experience you ought not to forego.

The Public's Health

IF THERE WAS ONE CLEAR ISSUE in the recent election it was the immediate establishment of a national health insurance scheme. The government which refused to establish it at present was re-elected. The Progressive Conservatives and socialists who combined to promise it were defeated.

The Canadian people perhaps look forward to the day when medical costs will be paid largely through the state in taxes, distributed as fairly as taxes can ever be distributed. But they have made it clear by their votes that this day is not yet. They know that a national health insurance scheme will raise taxes by something over half a billion dollars a year, about $36 per capita or $146 a year for a family of four and obviously they are not prepared to pay these costs.

The advocates of health insurance reply, with some justification, that the price of medical treatment must be paid anyway, that it is being paid now and that it will cost no more if they are transferred from the private citizen to the state.

This reasoning, however, ignores the fact, proved in Britain, for example, that the state invariably spends more on such services than it expects to spend, that a vast apparatus of administration must be carried out of taxes, that all the money paid into the public treasury cannot be devoted to actual medical services.

It ignores also the fact that we are short of hospitals, doctors and nurses to perform all the promised services.

If the administrative costs can be borne, if hospitals, doctors and nurses can be provided later on, the decisive political fact remains—the people at the moment, are not ready to pay more taxes and, on the contrary, are insisting on tax reductions.

As in all large public reforms, we shall make progress best if we make it by experiment, as close to the people as possible. The British Columbia hospital insurance scheme is such an experiment and a notable one. It has taught us many things already and doubtless will teach us more. It has taught us, above all, that actuarial calculations are not always reliable, that costs are likely to exceed estimates and that waste is difficult to control. Nevertheless, the hospital insurance scheme is now a fixed feature of our society which only a minority of the people would think of abolishing.

If other provinces, profiting by our success and our mistakes, would approach the larger problem of health insurance by insuring the costs of hospitalization—the heaviest costs and most ruinous for the ordinary family—then we would lay the foundation for a solid national health scheme.

It would grow up, probably with local variations, from the needs and desires of the local people. It would have the advantage of being constantly under local administration and vigilant scrutiny from those who pay its costs. It would not be a remote and cumbersome system centralized in Ottawa and beyond the control, almost beyond the knowledge of the local voters.

The solution of the health service problem may be found in that kind of experimental and pragmatic approach as the money is available. It is not available now, on a national scale, when the taxpayers refuse to pay more taxes, when the federal government clearly is heading, for the first time since the war, into budget trouble.

These conditions may change if and when the costs of defense can be safely reduced. When that burden is eased, when half the national revenues are no longer required against an enemy more immediate than disease, then the Canadian people will be in a position to reconsider the decision made in the election.

The present government—which accepts health insurance in principle, has actually drafted an insurance scheme but cannot finance it at present—will certainly be ready at that time to re-assess the whole problem in the light of its new financial circumstances.

The Two Prices

WHEN THE BRITISH MARKET is regarded from a purely economic and not a political point of view it will be seen to offer little chance of immediate extra business for Canada. This fact is not the fault of the Canadian government. It could not be altered by any conceivable Canadian policy. It can change for the better only as Britain's own position improves.

Recently in this space the prices prevailing in Britain for many agricultural products were cited. In every case Britain is buying, mostly in the sterling area, goods at far lower prices than our farmers are prepared to accept. This is no accident. It is the result of a deliberate and probably an unavoidable British policy.

In 1949 Britain devalued the pound. The main purpose of this decision was to restrict imports from dollar countries, simply because Britain lacked dollars. Immediately, in terms of sterling, British prices for most things, especially foodstuffs, fell below those prevailing in America in terms of dollars.

In other words, Britain could buy cheaply in its own currency from countries that were willing and able to accept it. Our Canadian prices were then out of line and, unable to meet this price competition, we could not hope to enjoy our prewar British and other sterling markets.

There are exceptions, of course, to this rule, notably wheat, of which Britain must buy substantial quantities here because it cannot get them elsewhere. But we are priced out of our old markets for many other goods by the British devaluation.

Considering these facts, The Winnipeg Free Press concludes that not "even convertibility of sterling and a complete return to free trade in Britain would transform the situation. Britain will drop restrictions (on dollar imports) only if it believes that Canadian farmers, as well as North American manufacturing industries, will remain unable to compete in the United Kingdom market. . . . If Canadian farmers did not stay priced out of a large part of their old British market, Britain could not stand the strain of extra dollar payments. The pound would depreciate, or have to be devalued again, in order to "take Canadian goods 'dearer in Britain and thus choke off the demand."

These conditions will change only as Britain becomes richer and able to afford more of our relatively expensive goods, since assuredly our exporters are not prepared to accept the relatively low British price when they can get a higher price elsewhere, mostly in the United States. While Canada should do everything possible to assist the recovery of British goods here, the restoration of anything like our old British market will take a long time. Those who tell us that it can be accomplished overnight by some magic remedy are ignoring the facts of economic life.

A Donation To Be Budgeted

THE PEOPLE OF GREATER Victoria have been told that agencies supported in whole or in part by the Community Chest need $210,686.86 to carry on their operations next year. The people have also been informed that public appeals will open within a few weeks to raise that amount.

In former years the story of the Community Chest has been widely publicized. Attention will again be drawn to the work of the agencies in the days ahead. That will serve as a reminder of the excellent services provided in several fields by the money made available through public subscription.

But a further message must be carried to the people of this city and district. That is a message which must impress upon them the fact that the Community Chest canvasser is not someone to be welcomed and dismissed with a minimum donation.

The objective set for this year is high. That it is not more than is required is attested by the details of the budget which was extended not to one round figure, but to the actual cents listed as essential for continuance of services.

This carries with it a plea to the citizen to understand the responsibility which falls upon every member of the community to do what is in his power to help.

That means that the citizen should not consider his contribution limited to the small change or the small denomination bill left in his pocket at the end of the week. The community needs help in looking after its own people. Such help, the thoughtful person will realize, justifies a budgeted donation, something from his earnings—a sum that can be met in instalments if necessary, rather than the quick and easy small gift that has been unfortunately insufficient in recent years.

A Bottle on the Road

ON THE Malahat at six o'clock this morning could be seen a humble but striking monument to the democratic system. Many drivers, the sleep still in their eyes, would not distinguish the object in the road as such. They may have supposed that it was only half a broken beer bottle, its jagged edge aimed at passing tires. But it was a monument to democracy nevertheless.

In a democracy like this the law enforces a certain set of rules but it can never enforce a set of manners or even of morals. Whether it is immoral to drink beer in a car and heave the bottle into the highway I do not know. It is illegal and assuredly it is bad manners and mighty dangerous to traffic. It is much more than that, however. It is the continuing proof, which reformers usually overlook, that a lot of people, even in this excellent country, are not fit for democracy and enjoy freedom only because the majority are decent.

AFTER swerving just in time to miss the jagged points of the broken beer bottle, I picked up a lad who was hitchhiking along the highway and carried on his shoulder a clanking sack. He admitted that the sack contained empty beer bottles, but he was operating well within the set of laws and manners. His business in the summer, he said, is to pick up bottles along the Malahat and sell them to the junk dealers—a small but useful contribution to the national economy. In the last two weeks he has picked up 49 dozen beer bottles between Goldstream and the Shawanigan Lake cutoff road, a distance of four or five miles.

THAT must be something of a record, even in a hard-drinking country like this. Under our queer liquor laws people are drinking in cars wholesale, as the law strictly forbids. And not content with breaking the law, the drinkers break the code of manners by heaving their empties into the bushes or, if their aim is better, right upon the pavement, where they will do the most harm.

A still more enterprising breed of Canadians dumps its rubbish along every highway and side road. Its evil spoor can be followed by the most incompetent tracker from one end of the island to the other.

All of which reminds the thoughtful man of the thin knife-edge whereon the democratic system balances. For the democratic system assumes, rightly, that most people in this country obey the codes of law and manners. If they did not, democracy would soon end and the people, unfit to enjoy liberty, would lose it. We would need a dictator to keep things in order. But democracy (especially among people of liberal mind) generally underestimates the dark forces always at work within society and the deep stratum of ignorance which makes many people unfit to vote.

OBVIOUSLY a man who thinks so little of the country and of his fellows as to throw beer bottles on highways night after night is unfit to vote. He is unfit to be in a decent society at all. It would be too expensive, however, to put all such persons in jail and if we start disfranchising them no one's vote will be safe.

We maintain universal suffrage not because we think that all people are fit for it but because we think the majority is fit for it that we can never safely decide who shall vote and who shall not, that if we start monkeying with the vote we shall end by whittling down and destroying democracy altogether.

Yet it is depressing to the democrat to observe the beer bottle in the road and then to read in the Gallup Poll that a large part of the young voters of Canada don't know the names of the prime minister or the leader of the opposition. Such people voted in tens of thousands a few days ago. I cannot imagine why they bothered to mark a ballot, since clearly they cared nothing about the result—unless perchance they were highly-principled beer drinkers who, out of passionate conviction, and disinterested patriotism, were making a silent protest against a law which forbids them to drink in cars.

DEMOCRACY'S remedy for such people is education but it is taking a longer time than most reformers had expected. There is more education in the country than ever and also more broken beer bottles. To maintain your faith in democracy and in your fellow men, however, you must remember the great majority who do not throw beer bottles out of cars, who know the name of the prime minister, study public questions and vote sensibly at elections. Though they maintain a decent society, no monuments and no jails are erected in their honor.

RELIGION AND POLITICS

Mrs. Kathleen M. Worthington-Lake's letter to Times no doubt is well intended, but she overlooks one vital truth in our western democracy.

Religion and politics should not mix and a diplomatic representative to the Vatican would mean an inevitable interference into political matters by that representative if appointed to a religious body.

Surely our ambassador to Italy is well able to take care of all matters that may arise and without sectional religious implication.

"TOLERANT."

"SERVANT AND MASTER"

Your editorial "Servant and Master" was sane and to the point. The mayor and council were perfectly right in giving Mr. Wright permission as a candidate in the local provincial election.

I quite naturally expected Mr. Wright to give up his position if he were elected under the circumstances. He was sure of his present position if he failed to get elected, and I can't see how he expected to hold his present position otherwise. Of course, he could have questioned on that point at the time, but I don't suppose he ever thought he would make such a killing let alone be elected. I think I would have considered giving up so highly a paid job. I never thought that job would have paid that salary.

Judging from letters in the press and others picking on Mayor Harrison, I think if the writers thought the matter over, they would see more clearly that the mayor and council, the city manager, Mr. Patton, have taken the right stand, although, some of the council members seemed to want to pass the decision on to the mayor and city manager. If the city manager had been placed in the same position what would they have thought then? There is always the chance if, in a future election Mr. Wright is defeated, he would be given a good job by the government—if he were as lucky as a former defeated candidate was.

In closing may I say that there are too many picking the mayor to pieces, some because they don't like him digging into things for the benefit of the taxpayers. He has cleaned up several things according to the press and he is the right man for his job.

I consider a two-year term is not long enough to do the good job he planned. In closing may I say this bickering should stop about Mr. Wright, and other things. The mayor should go in by acclamation at the next election. Let him get on with his good work which so many dislike. There is much to clean up in Victoria city yet, and he knows his city and province so well.

ONE VIEW OF UNITY

About the "National Flag Early Issue for Parliament" and "Our Other Language" articles in The Daily Times recently may I have a little space in your Readers' Column?

Humanity has not yet made the grade in progress so judgment is here. They are still on the "way." Some backward nations are still fighting, revolting or working out their progress.

Canada should be a foremost leader nation, but she is still arguing about two languages and a new flag. Canada adopted the pure English language for her own and it is spoken and respected all over the world. America did the same. It is the pure language without any accent or dialect. Our school-master M.A. taught us this in school. It is the one and only official language for the whole North American continent, and it works for unity.

Why are Canadians so slow in accepting this fact? Until humanity reaches the goal of unity they are unable to reap the full benefits which will accrue from the real moral unity. Wake up Canadians and recognize the responsibilities of this scientific and atomic age.

Let us all learn from the mistakes of the past and rectify them as trustees for the children who will be the future generation.

Trying to Get in the Back Door

FARMS WITHOUT DONKEYS

The Last Rows of Summer

By MARGARET E. O'BRIEN

THE last hallock is filled and the last bush is stripped of its straggling, reluctant berries. Nothing is left for the snapper-up of unconsidered trifles. No longer do we yawn and stretch at 6 a.m. and wonder if it's worth the effort, for the loganberries are finished for this year. Perhaps, indeed, this may be the last year of the old method of picking which has not changed since Eve, the first berry picker, plucked the apple.

According to a newspaper report the West Saanich Growers' Association advocates the application of scientific methods to this business of transferring the fruit from the tree to the flat. Instead of working our way wearily down the rows, our shoes filling with dust at every step, we will all stand at equal distances down a row—no longer our private preserve—and feed the berries on to a conveyor belt.

CUTTING COMPETITION

This seems at first sight to eliminate the competition which exists in all berry patches and provides meat for the innumerable tales heard on the berry pickers' bus. "I picked ten flats today," boasts a stained youngster in jeans. "She must have put stones in," thinks her audience and prepares to listen to even taller berry tales. Under this scheme there will be no more flats, unless the machine fills them all himself. Everyone will be paid by the hour, and there won't be the same grim determination to make at least two dollars. However, if there's no opportunity for the spinner of yarns there will still be plenty of room for individuality.

The growers, poor dears, will still have to coax, coerce and cajole their temperamental gangs of workers; prevent them from throwing the berries at one another, see that they remove the husks and in some happy instances entice them to stay with cups of tea and homemade cookies.

HUMAN FACTOR

After all the conveyor belt only speeds up one operation in berry picking. So far we still use Eve's method of picking the fruit. Human ingenuity has yet to invent a machine capable of selecting the ripe fruit and of separating it deftly from the husk. Electronic brains have not yet been commercialized. And is the expenditure on this modern Leviathan, the moving belt, worth the result? Would not a donkey and cart trained to go up and down between the rows and collect each hallock as it was filled be equally efficient, ten times less expensive and ten times more lovable?

Maybe donkeys are not practical, for in my stay on the island I have yet to enjoy the sight of a donkey picking its feet daintily off the rocks or the sound of its hideous bark before rain. For the donkey and cart then we may have to substitute a small boy pushing a large baby carriage, and so we are right back at the problem which the growers' association want to solve—the labor shortage, though as far as one can see small boys are prevalent in Victoria—almost as prevalent as old men.

TO SOAK UP SUN

Looking back now we rather regret that early morning start, for nothing but sheer necessity would make us follow the admirable Canadian habit of early rising. The buses leaving Broughton Street shortly after 7.30 every morning were packed with teen-agers and a sprinkling of older people out on this spree to soak up the sun and to get away from it all. At three cents a pound no one could dream of riches. On the return journey at 5.30 this chilly group of Canadians seemed to have been mellowed by the Pacific sun. The teen-agers justly sang such appropriate songs as "Seven lonely nights and seven lonely days," while the driver shrugged his shoulders, though he no doubt wished his days more lonely.

As a native of another island some 7,000 miles east I am impressed with the similarities rather than the differences in the pattern of life on small farms, though in Ireland there would have been less sunshine and fewer slick automobiles, and there would have been a decent supply of donkeys.

After the White House

From Anthony Leviero's New York Times Magazine article on Harry S. Truman

IN THE busyness of his new life and with an assured income from his writings, Mr. Truman has abandoned his desire of returning to public life as a member of the House or Senate. "No, I don't think I'd like to do it. I've had my share of public office—30 years of it. I've decided to be just a citizen. I've got a lot to do without going back."

The visitor next asks Mr. Truman how he thinks President Eisenhower is doing. "I'm not going to do or say anything to embarrass the man in the White House," comes the soft reply. "I know exactly what he's up against."

This observation is in vivid contrast with Mr. Truman's bitter denunciations of General Eisenhower during the Presidential campaign. But is not studied restraint. Though sharp, even venomous, in his speeches last fall, he was always mild in private talk about the General. And interviews with many of his associates and cronies today indicate that he has not been indulging in any sharp criticism of his successor or even of protracted discussions of current issues.

He refuses gambits that seek to link General Eisenhower with his handling of particular issues and policies. "I think you're ahead of the hounds," he says. "We've got to wait and see what the effects of these policies will be. You can't tell until time shows what happens. Actions in the end will decide these things."

He also explains that he now is cut off from official sources of information and therefore does not have enough facts from which to speak. He recounts the story of an old schoolmate who used to argue about what should have been done at Gettysburg, Antietam and Vicksburg. "You know, any schoolboy's afterthoughts are worth more than any general's forethoughts," he concludes.

bang political talking in the near future. Right now he is gathering ammunition for challenging speeches on labor and foreign policy.

The picture of the ex-President that emerges from browsing around the Truman habitat and from talks with friends and associates confirms the impression that he himself gives of a relaxed, contented man glad to be relieved of his former cares. He is surprisingly unchanged, as a person, by his years in the White House. He would not, of course, have moved back to Missouri if he had changed, or if he had gone high-hat on his friends. And, if he is treading some new paths, there are, it is clear, merely extensions of old ones that he has walked in and around Independence and Grandview and Kansas City for a lifetime.

NO END

The experts never get to the end of anything. It's not only that they haven't got to the end of anything today. But they can't even picture the idea of their activities ever being complete. Perhaps they can't even wish it. Can one imagine, for instance, that man will still have a soul once he has learnt to understand it completely and manage it biologically and psychologically? And yet that is the state of things we are trying to achieve! There it is. Knowledge is an attitude, a passion. Actually an illicit attitude. For the compulsion to know is just like dipsomania, erotomania, and homicidal mania, in producing a character that is out of balance.

Climate and Communists

ALL sorts of theories have been advanced from time to time to account for the contrast of the Communist regime, but a world weather expert is the first, I believe, to suggest that Soviet nastiness may be put down to the nastiness of the Russian climate.

Dr. F. W. Reichelder, head of the World Meteorological Association and chief weather-map of the United States, thinks that this may have been the cause of the recent upheavals in the Kremlin.

As the Soviet hierarchy is composed of human beings—although there are times when I wonder if they are not robots or Frankenstein's of their own making, rather than flesh-and-blood beings—it is to be supposed that they are as susceptible to the vagaries of the weather as the rest of us. Bad weather induces a grouchy mood in the best of people at times, just as a sunny, balmy day will bring out a feeling of well-being—in some people, at any rate.

My knowledge of the Russian climate is vicarious, but I have always understood that it is pretty grim. If we are to blame some of the purges and other distinctly Soviet phenomena upon the Russian weather, then it must be some of the world's worst to induce such ruthless reactions. The frost-laden winds that are said to sweep across the Steppes of Siberia into the heart of Russia must have turned the blood of its ruling classes into ice and have solidified their hearts into granite-like blocks impervious to any minuscule of warmth and compassion.

FROM PARIS

By STEWART ALSOP

What's the Matter With France?

"FRANCE is sick." This phrase, or something like it, crops up again and again in all conversations with French officials or political leaders. For a long time it has been obvious that France has been suffering from some sort of sickness—that something has been wrong somewhere. But never in this reporter's experience has there been in France so general an atmosphere of paralysis and bitter stagnation.

At least two distinct diagnoses of the French illness have been made since the war in the United States. It was first assumed that the French illness was essentially economic. But France back on her feet economically, it was reasoned, and French national unity and national power would be restored.

Economic aid has had great negative benefits—without it, for example, France would almost certainly be Communist. But there have been precious few positive benefits—no one could claim for France today the political health which was supposed to follow on economic recovery.

The plain fact is that France has not really recovered economically—it has merely been kept ticking over. France is a rich country, the richest in Europe in many respects. Yet French industrial production has increased at a rate far lower than that of any other European country, including even poverty-stricken Italy. Inflation continues, the French franc is shakier than ever (there is talk now of another devaluation), and the French government is faced with a colossal deficit.

The second 'American diagnosis of the French illness was essentially military. A soundly defended France, it was argued, would be a politically sound France. Again, military aid has had great benefits. The Russians at least face a serious deterrent force in Western Europe. The Red army is not likely to march to Paris the day after tomorrow, and without warning. But again, these benefits have been negative, and palliative. There is still, after three years of western rearmament, no solid defense of Western Europe.

Many thoughtful observers here, both French and American, have come to the conclusion that the heart of the trouble lies in

And if the Russian winters are as long and as severe as one is given to understand, then the summers must be correspondingly short—too short to melt the hearts of those who dictate Soviet policies and decree the tragic fates of those who dare to disagree with them.

Well, if ever there was a case which called for immediate action on Mark Twain's oft-quoted comment, that everyone talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it, here it is. Surely, in the face of all that our own local weathermen do about our own particular brand of climate, the head of the World Meteorological Association can do something to remedy the Soviet situation. After all, he is the one who claims the climate is responsible for Communist capers.

So I suggest that he divert a few hot winds and siroccos from Africa's sunny climes to warm up the cold-blooded cohorts in the Kremlin and make their outlook on life a little sunnier. And, as nature is said to abhor a vacuum, he might at the same time see to it that the deposed frigid winds from the Steppes be directed to Africa to cool down some of the hotheads who have been causing trouble in Kenya, Morocco and Iran, with a special draught for Dr. Malan.

Incidentally, that same weather expert also said the world's weather is getting warmer but that the atomic explosions aren't responsible. That may be. But while he blames the Russian weather for Kremlin conduct, I am going to allocate the blame for the atomic bomb business on the Kremlin. And you can put that conclusion of mine down to our unseasonable weather, too, if you like.

Piper Laurie Grows Up

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Bright-eyed Piper Laurie said today she feels like an honest-to-Pete movie star for the first time in her career—thanks to RKO pictures.

The vivacious young redhead began her film career at Universal-International when she was 17 and had never made a picture elsewhere until she was loaned to RKO last month for "Rangers of the North."

"It's wonderful," she said. "People here at RKO call me 'Miss Laurie' instead of 'Piper' like they do at U-I. They treat me like Garbo, instead of a kid sister."

Piper jumped up from a chair to stir a poisonous-looking brew bubbling on her dressing room stove.

"Candy," she explained, "First time I ever tried it. I never had a chance to do anything like this at Universal."

"Everyone here has been wonderful about making me feel at home. I was scared to death about making my first picture at another studio. You know, a person gets used to doing things one particular way at their own studio—and doing a movie at another lot is always different."

"Ranger" also marked the first time Piper's ever gone on location for a picture.

"It was great. Like a two-week vacation."

We spent three hours just getting to and from the location," she said.

"Vic Mature, my co-star, really goes out of his way to help me do a scene. He's a perfectionist. He wants everyone to do his part exactly right."

Piper also is happy that the picture doesn't cast her as a girl disguised as a boy, or a Harem girl in frilly Arabian Nights pantaloons.

"The gowns," she smiled, "are out of this world. U-I wouldn't let me wear them, even if the part called for it. The wardrobe department here kept asking for lower cut bodices and tighter sweaters. I really feel 21 for a change."

"I can make suggestions as we go along, too. At Universal people would listen to me, then go ahead with things the way they'd planned them. At U-I I'm still just the little girl who grew up on the back lot."

The youthful actress returns to her home lot in a few weeks to co-star opposite Tony Curtis in "Johnny Dark," but looks forward to being loaned out again.

"What I'll miss most," Piper sighed, "is the little man here at RKO who spends all his time in a corner just making coffee. At U-I we have to use the vending machine."

Saskatchewan Boosts 1954 Rates for Hospital Plan

REGINA (CP)—An increase in the individual adult hospital care tax for 1954 from $10 to $15 and a boost in the family maximum tax from $30 to $40 were announced Tuesday by Health Minister J. T. Bentley. The tax for dependents under 18 years of age will remain unchanged at $5 each.

The increases, first general boost in five years, were dictated by a "tremendous rise in the cost of providing hospital care," said Mr. Bentley. There would be no change in the benefits provided under the provincial hospital plan.

One other change announced was an increase in the minimum down payment from $15 to $20, with no change in the term of six months allowed for payment of the balance of the tax.

The increases were made under an amendment to the Saskatchewan Hospitalization Act passed at the last session of the legislature.

CALGARY (CP)—Hail damage to Prairie grain crops this year has been the heaviest in years, running well ahead of the 1952 destruction from the skies and rapidly approaching a record in Alberta.

PORT ALBERNI—Representatives of the Coast Small Operators' Association, who walked over the proposed Alberni-Tofino road route last week-end, said the road could be built by the operators at a cost of $2,000,000.

Government surveyors have placed the cost at $6,000,000.

They suggested a 24-foot logging-type road. Major Cuthbert Holmes, Victoria, Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island president, said if the operators could build a road up to specifications, their proposition might be reasonable.

NANAIMO—A and B Construction Co. Ltd. of Nanaimo will be awarded a contract to build a six-classroom school at Comox Airport for the department of national defense, a government representative told the company Wednesday.

The project will cost about $150,000.

PORT ALBERNI—Mayor Loran K. Jordan suggested this week that a speedway be established where youngsters could "let off steam" in their hot rods without endangering highway travel.

"We have more than our share of accidents," he said following a crash on the Beaver Creek Road in which five young people were injured.

DUNCAN—A rodeo complete with bucking horses, calf roping and wild cow milking, first to be held on Vancouver Island, will be included in the program of the Cowichan Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition, Sept. 16-12.

NANAIMO—Miss Donna Buxton, chosen from among three other contestants by the graduating class of Nanaimo High School as the city's entry in the Miss PNE contest, is now in Vancouver to compete for the exhibition title.

PORT ALBERNI—Four cougars were shot in the Tofino-Ucluelet district by predator hunter James Dewar before Dewar's best hunting dog was killed, making the rest of his dog pack ineffective.

District school board officials, alarmed at the risk for children awaiting buses, protested to Jack Squire, MLA. Plans are now being made to send Skate Hanes, Merville predator hunter, to the district.

COURTENAY—Harrison and Longland tender for construction of a two-room school at Robb Road for $18,225 was accepted by District 71 school board after board officials found a pre-fabricated school of a type widely used in the province would cost the same.

COMOX—Ten-year-old Reg Lester of Morton, Wash., fishing with a companion of nine years in Comox Bay Sunday, hooked a 39-pound tyee salmon. It was landed for him by his guide, Harold Goodwin.

CUMBERLAND—Funeral services were held here Tuesday for Mrs. Mary Jane Stockland, 88, native of Gaspe, Que., who died in hospital here Saturday night.

She was married to Samuel Stockland in Victoria in 1885, and spent the remainder of her life on Vancouver Island.

Mussolini's Body Reported Buried In Family Plot

ROME (UP)—The body of Benito Mussolini was reported today to have been taken from its secret resting place and buried in the family plot in north central Italy.

The newspaper Momento Sera quoted rumors that the dictator's body was taken to the Paderno village cemetery near his native village of Predappio "some days ago" and buried in an unmarked tomb in the chapel. Mussolini's brother Arnaldo, who died before the war, and other relatives are buried there. Government officials in Rome said they knew nothing of the report.

The whereabouts of Mussolini's body has been Italy's most closely guarded secret since it was stolen from the Milan cemetery in 1946 and later recovered by police.

City Voters List Open To Registrants Sept. 1

Victorians will have two months beginning Sept. 1, to get on the city municipal voters' list for the December mayoral election. City Clerk Frank Hunter announced Wednesday.

Voters, who must be British subjects and over 21, fall into three classes.

Mr. Hunter said property owners will be placed automatically on the list, although corporations owning property will be required to fill out a special form, if they were not on last year's list.

Householders must register at the clerk's office if they

Film Company Offers Replica of Fort to Banff National Park

BANFF, Alta. (BUP)—An exact, full-size replica of a Northwest Mounted Police fort dating back to 1870 will be presented to the Banff national park this fall, if the park wants it.

The replica, used by Universal-International Film Co. in the filming of "Saskatchewan" in the Canadian Rockies, will be leased to the park for three years in case the company makes another movie in the location. After that period, full ownership would be granted to the national park.

Banff park superintendent B. I. M. Strong, said officials were considering the offer, but no decision had yet been reached.

Chicken, Aircraft Help Capture Two Penticton Youths

BEMIDJI, Minn. (CP)—A startled chicken and an airplane figured in the capture here Wednesday of George Lumley, 21, and Glen Hicks, 18, of Penticton, B.C. Both have been charged with theft.

Searchers seeking the persons who robbed a service station here Tuesday became suspicious when the hen, obviously alarmed, darted from a chicken coop. As the posse approached the coop, the men fled to a nearby corn field. They were captured there after the service station owner spotted them in his plane.

TORONTO FACES MILK STRIKE

TORONTO (CP)—Milk drivers serving more than 300,000 homes in Greater Toronto voted Wednesday night to strike for the continuance of six-day deliveries, but set no deadline for their walkout.

Milk at 22 cents a quart has been delivered in Toronto every day except Sunday. The drivers work a five-day week.

The union rejected five-day-a-week delivery as proposed by the dairies and a conciliation board. The plan called for no deliveries Wednesdays. Union spokesmen said they feared such an arrangement would lead to extra heavy loads Tuesday, as well as to curtailment of employment.

Seven Die in N.S. Level-Crossing Tragedy

TRURO, N.S. (BUP)—A local passenger and freight train, running 45 minutes late, crashed into a car at a level crossing near here Wednesday night and killed seven persons, all members of one family.

The car was hurled 300 feet along the tracks.

Coroner Dr. H. B. Havey of Stewiacke scheduled an inquest for this afternoon. Police tentatively blamed the crash on poor visibility caused by a steady rain.

Nobody aboard the train was hurt.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. William Murray Burgess of Beaverbrook, Colchester County, N.S.; their children, Geraldine, 11; Esther, eight; Roddy, five, and Heather, three, and their niece, Shirley Taylor, 17, of nearby Harmony Road, N.S.

The Burgess had five other children.

Police said Burgess passed the crossing several times a day en route to his lumbering job at nearby Riversdale. They said he knew the train was the only one scheduled to pass the crossing around that time at night and probably assumed it had passed before he got there.

STOCK MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto List Again Dips

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market declined for a fourth day today. Low-priced mining issues dominated the slow-moving session. Base metals took over leadership of the decline today, sinking to their lowest index level since October, 1930. Golds and western oils were down and industrials continued to fade slowly.

Although losses in base metals were widespread, none were severe. Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Noranda and Quoniam slipped fractions. Western oils were close to making this the ninth straight day of decline as Canada South, Central-Leduc, Calgary and Edmonton and Pacific posted losses running to 40 cents. Papers came under mild selling pressure in industrials, as did foods and banks. On the upside were steels and textiles.

The golds showed losses ranging to 37 cents for such leaders as Campbell Red Lake, Kerr Addison, Teck Hughes and Preston East Dome.

Senior metals, senior oils, beverages, steels, banks, utilities and miscellaneous industrials were weaker while papers and carriers were mixed.

Mines were mixed in heavy trading. In western oils, Jasper and Okalta dipped 5 cents.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Grain prices generally dropped lower in a dull session as the Winnipeg grain exchange today. Commercial demand was limited to most commodities.

BUSINESS CAPSULE

By E. McLEAN
Times Business Editor

Only 37 out of every 10,000 businesses in Canada failed in 1932, according to a study by Dun & Bradstreet of Canada.

Although the annual rate of business failures has gradually swung upwards from six per 10,000 in 1931, it is still well below the 1900-32 average of 96 per 10,000.

Dun & Bradstreet's study reveals 90.1 per cent of last year's 843 business failures in Canada were caused by lack of experience, unbalanced experience or incompetency. Only 13 were traceable to fraud.

Ten B.C. firms are included in department of defense production's latest list of contracts in excess of $10,000. Biggest contracts coming to B.C. were $163,636 order to Hayes Manufacturing Co. Ltd., Vancouver, for tractor trucks and $133,020 coal contract to Kingham-Gillespie Coal Co. Ltd., Victoria (already reported by The Times).

Other B.C. contracts: Burns & Co. Ltd., Vancouver, meat, $15,342; Gordon Campbell Ltd., Vancouver, uniforms, $15,196; Canadian Collieries Ltd., Vancouver, coal, $51,262; Canadian Mobile Co. Ltd., North Vancouver, aircraft towing tractors, $62,775; Leslie Coal Co. Ltd., Vancouver, coal, $22,335; A. P. Slade (Victoria) Ltd., Victoria, dairy products, $12,305; J. Boshard & Son Ltd., Vancouver, painting, $39,365; Allied Builders Ltd., Vancouver, crash boat, $45,650.

Bank clearings here this week were $766,937 more than the corresponding week last year. Figures released today by Victoria Clearing House show cheques cleared in week ended today totaled $7,390,117 compared with $6,623,137 in the same week of 1932.

Chambers of Commerce directors will have before them at their Friday luncheon in Empress Hotel a report, with recommendations, on the proposal VCC join the more than 100 other Chambers of Commerce in Canada which administer some form of group health insurance and/or life insurance for members.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The pony express rode again Wednesday night as the fightin' Irish shouldered their way into the Intercity Lacrosse League finals.

Lighthorse Harry Irwin, the roaming nomad who might otherwise have been a nonentity in a brilliant season for the Shamrocks, grabbed the reins down the backstretch as the Rocks stumbled momentarily and, with a flick of the whip, drove the Irish into a battling fury that couldn't be denied.

It was Irwin above all else in this fifth and deciding game of the tremendous semifinal with Nanaimo Native Sons who snapped the Rocks back into reality.

His two quick goals in the second period completely erased a lethargy that had been prevalent since the Rocks repulsed all contenders with 16 straight victories at home during the regular season. And the Rocks took heed from Irwin's lead to whiplash their previous tormentors.

This was the most convincing triumph of the torrid series, made so mainly because of the brilliance of Fred Fulla in the Nanaimo nets. Relaxed, the Rocks exploded, and though they couldn't completely fathom the Fulla myth, they sent the Sons home an admittedly well-beaten, but still a courageous team.

"They were always the better club; let's quit kiddin' ourselves," admitted Coach Arnie Duggan of the losers.

But what a battle the coaltowners put up. Undermanned, underrated and underdogs, the Nanaimo crew deserve all the credit that can be strewn their way. They battled the Irish into a fifth and deciding game, when, off the season, they really didn't deserve a seat in the stands. It was Fulla and John Lumley who packed the burden and their inspiration was tremendous, especially in those two sensational victories at Nanaimo.

A solemn, but quietly proud figure, Fulla sat dejectedly in the Nanaimo dressing room when it was all over.

"It almost broke my heart," he said of the final Shamrock victory.

He could well have added:

"But I almost broke theirs, didn't I?"

Jim Wouldn't Accept His Dues

Understandably, there were other stars in this series, too. Hidden in the shadow of the more luminous was Irwin. His was the spark that finally ignited the Rocks into the polished machine they can be.

And Arnold Ferguson—the craft and cunning of his many years coming to the fore in a final three-goal performance to match Irwin's.

Whitely Severson—who followed in the footsteps of Ferguson in being the second Shamrock in four years to bring the Maitland (Most Valuable Player) Trophy to the wearers of the green. He got his cap in a seven-point spurge that made the halo glow even more.

And who can overlook goalie Jim Hetherington. Unsung, unheralded and the guy who willingly took a back seat as coach Red McMillan looked for better in rookie Dave Unwin during the regular season and veteran Bill Andrews in one game of the playoffs, Jim gave the Rocks all he had, and more, in the clinching victory.

Though his series' star was paled by Fulla's brilliant hue, Hetherington's final performance should not go unnoticed. And what did he do in his greatest moment of glory as the Irish surged to his citadel in tribute?

He handed the orchids right back to the players.

"A guy can't help but play well, when the fellows back you up like the boys supported me," he said.

Later he was heard to add in respect to his rival:

"Fulla! There's the biggest sport of 'em all."

Pils Next to Test Irish Mark

Yes, to toss a hackneyed phrase back in the mint: "The Rocks were rockin' in this one," as they now point to the Pilseners and beyond the powerful Vancouver club to the Mann Cup finals.

To which possible eventuality coach Red McMillan of the Irish said:

"We'll be digging. This was a terrific series; but now I think we've found ourselves."

And now it comes to this. The Rocks haven't been beaten at home since the Indians spilled the playoff gravy last year. And a club that has won 19 straight for its fans, doesn't have to tip its hat to anyone—not even the foreboding Pils who'll be here Friday.

FLEMING TOUGH-LUCK LOSER

Canadian Hopes Dim In Amateur Golf

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's hopes for a title holder in the Canadian amateur golf championships today rested on two youngsters and a veteran campaigner — and the prospects weren't too bright. The competition from experienced American and British campaigners appears to be too tough.

As the week-long championships that started with an entry list of 200 on Monday narrowed down to 16 — six from Great Britain, seven from the United States, and three Canadians — an invader was expected to take the Earl Grey trophy sometime Saturday. It's anybody's guess who that would be.

The favorite is Joe Carr, British amateur champion from Dublin. But he has been scrambling for victories over 6,645-yard, par-70 Kanawaki course since he made his appearance in the second round and his game on the green has been a nightmare to himself and to the big galleries that have followed him.

The six-foot-four women's dress salesman was extended to the limit Wednesday before he eliminated Montreal's Gordon Taylor one up in the fourth round. Taylor, winner of the Canadian championship 21 years ago, was supposed to be a sitting duck for the Irishman, but he made Carr earn the victory over the 18-hole route.

Doug Silverberg, just out of junior ranks, posted a 3 and 1 victory over Brian McGuigan of Montreal in the third round and that brought them from behind and gave them an 11-9 victory in the league opener.

Argos were behind 9-6 when Kirkowski's deadly short passes began to spell the Alouettes' doom. Starting from the Montreal 54-yard line, he led the Argos to their game-winning major in eight plays, four of them passes that gained 49 short passes and guided the Argos to an unconverted touch-down in the last three minutes

A Hero's Welcome for Big Jim

At the sound of the final whistle in Wednesday night's lacrosse game between Victoria Shamrocks and Nanaimo Native Sons, the Shamrock bench exploded with pandemonium—players racing out on the floor to congratulate goalie Jim Hetherington. The pudgy netminder allowed Nanaimo only one goal a period as the Rocks gained the Intercity Lacrosse

'PEG GRID PREXY DRIPS COLD WATER ON LIONS

WINNIPEG (CP)—Karl Slocumb, president of Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, says Vancouver's entry into the league will cause an unbalanced schedule "which sports history has shown never to be successful."

Addressing a Winnipeg service club Wednesday, Slocumb said Winnipeg opposed the Vancouver entry. Vancouver Lions will enter the loop in 1954, coached by Canadian veteran Annis Stukus.

The entry could entail extra expenses, including traveling, which would cost Winnipeg and Regina $5,600 and other clubs a little less. The split receipts for playoffs and Grey Cup would be $10,000 less for each club with Vancouver in, he said.

Indians Pass Broncs In Tight W Flag Race

With a scheduled Lewiston-at-Wenatchee game postponed by rain, there was a change in the WIL lead Wednesday.

Lewiston dropped into second place by one percentage point and the Spokane Indians moved up by defeating the Yakima Bears 7-5 before a scant 194 paying customers at Yakima.

Spokane catcher Bill Sheets got tossed out of the game in the eighth when he expressed himself too freely over what he considered a bad ball. He was replaced by Jerry Ogle.

The night's only double-header was split. The Salem Senators edged Edmonton 4-3 in the nightcap after the Eskimos had won the first game 1-0.

Singles by Gene Tanselli, Jim

Deyo and Connie Perez produced the winning run in the seventh inning of the second game. Edmonton had tied the score in its half of the seventh.

Tri-City doubled by Bob Meisner and Sam Kanelos.

The other prairie WIL team didn't fare so well, as Tri-City bunched seven hits in one inning to defeat the Calgary Stampede 8-6.

The total of Calgary runs was kept down despite 16 hits. Tri-City pitcher Don Robertson issued no free passes and only two of the Calgary hits went for extra bases.

'Rocks Rout Sons to Gain Boxla Finals

Severson, Irwin Star In Most Convincing Win

Shamrocks 11, Nanaimo 4

By DENNY BOYD

That's why they give the Maitland Trophy away. The Intercity Lacrosse League awards a coveted honor every year so that one player in the league shall be properly recognized for his value to his team.

And when a player can do as much for his team as Whitey Severson did for Victoria Shamrocks Wednesday night at Memorial Arena, the value of the trophy is being served to the utmost.

On his own broad shoulders Severson carried the Shamrocks into the Intercity Lacrosse League finals. It was Severson front and centre as the Irish defeated a great and gritty Nanaimo Native Sons team, 11-4 in the fifth and last game of their semifinal series.

Presented with the Maitland trophy at half-time, Severson was superb. He scored one goal and six assists. His checking was beyond reproach and his hustle, unflagging drive and floor management was the inspiration that lifted the Rocks above the lethargy that held them down in previous series games.

If there was one complaint, it would be that there is only one Maitland Cup. It would have been fitting if other Shamrocks, like Arnie Ferguson, Jim Hetherington, Harry Irwin and Bobby Monaghan could receive some form of reward for their fine play in the deciding contest.

But for these players, the rest of the team and the management, it was reward enough to reach the finals because there probably was not one member of the club who did not wonder at one time or another during the five games if they would make it.

cooling off in the penalty box Ferguson slipped by Earl Benlie and scored the first goal of the game with an overhead bounce shot.

But Duggan put his club back in the game at 7:08 when he scooped up John Lumley's rebound to score his second goal of the series.

Penalties were the vital factor in the second quarter. Tommy Druce was serving time for high-sticking when Bob Lumley scored unassisted at 2:19 to give his club the lead for the only time but Dave Patterson helped break the game open when he was penalized for a wrap-around.

Gavilan Belts Jones

Welter Champ to Seek Middle Title

NEW YORK (UP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan was so delighted with his victory over middleweight contender Ralph (Tiger) Jones that he declared positively today, "I will win the middleweight championship!"

The speedy Cuban "keed," who won a unanimous 10-round decision over Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., Wednesday night, said he would challenge the winner of the middleweight title fight between Bobo Olson and Randy Turpin on Oct. 21.

"All I want to know is who is middleweight champion; then I will beat him," he explained with a happy grin.

Gavilan had reason to be happy. He won impressively over Jones in a thrilling television fight before 5,063 at Madison Square Garden. It was the same Jones who had given a thorough licking to Johnny Bratton, top welterweight contender, last Dec. 5. Jones was unbeaten in seven previous fights.

WELTER TITLE BOUTS

Moreover, Gavilan came through the bruising battle without injury. He will go to Summit, N.J., Monday and continue training for his defense of the 147-pound crown against Carmen Basilio of Syracuse, N.Y., Sept. 18.

Jones was less fortunate. Dr. Vincent Nardiello said X-rays at St. Clare's Hospital this morning disclosed Jones had suffered a fracture and dislocation of the right thumb. The thumb was injured in the fifth round.

Manager Angel Lopez was partially responsible for Gavilan's victory. The "keed" tried to slug it out with Jones in the first three rounds, and he lost the first and third sessions on the score cards of all three ring officials.

In the corner after the third round, Lopez angrily told Gavilan, "if you go out there and slug with him again, I'll hit you over the head with a stool. You're fighting his fight, not your own. Go out there and box."

Gridder Files Counter Claim

OTTAWA (BUP)—John Kissell, Ottawa Rough Rider import who is being sued by the Cleveland Browns for breach of contract, has filed a counter-claim in the Ontario Supreme Court.

The claim will be heard Friday by W. G. Pugsley, local master of the court.

Kissell asked the court to strike out the Browns' statement of claim, to amend it, or at least to give his attorneys more time to prepare their defense.

Kissell's attorneys said the Browns' statement of claim was irregular and defective in the way it was drawn up.

CHICAGO'S DILEMMA

Ex-Sox Still Haunt Mates

One big reason why the Chicago White Sox are languishing 10½ games back in second place today instead of fighting it out with New York Yankees for the American League pennant is the poor, old Philadelphia Athletics. They are loaded with a bunch of former Pale Hose players who are coming back to haunt Paul Richards and his hirelings.

The Athletics have won 12 games against the Sox this season and lost eight. On the other hand, they've won only five from the Yanks and dropped 15. If the White Sox had been able to do as well against the Athletics as the Yanks, they'd be just 3½ games out of first place.

Wednesday, the Athletics beat the Sox 10-8. Eddie Robinson, traded for Ferris Fain during the winter, hit a home run and Dave Philley, who put in four campaigns with the Sox, hit a home run and two triples to knock in two runs.

PROTEST

The White Sox protested the loss because Philley was given a triple when pitcher Mike Fornieles' glove flew off his hand while trying to field a grounder. The rules give a batter an automatic triple if a fielder throws his glove at the ball. The Sox claimed the ball knocked Fornieles' glove off his hand.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Yanks nipped Detroit Tigers 5-4 and Cleveland Indians polished off Washington.

Farmers Take Baseball Title

Farmers 5, Eagles 1

By RON COULTER

A new champion was crowned at Royal Athletic Park Wednesday night.

Powerful Farmer Construction, regular league champions, captured the Senior Amateur Baseball League playoff title and the Rithet Challenge Trophy by defeating Eagles, 5-1, to take the best-of-five series three games to one.

Victory for Farmers climaxed a highly successful season for the team and ended Eagles' reign as top club in the league. Farmers lost two games all season, both defeats coming in the playoffs.

Wednesday night it was left-hander Bill Garner's turn to draw the plaudits. Garner went the distance to take the victory and came through with some of the best clutch hurling seen this season.

He gave up 10 hits, walked four and struck out nine. Fastballing Paul Beck suffered the loss for Eagles, pitching eight-hit ball and walking an identical number while sending eight batters down by the strikeout route.

EARLY LEAD HOLDS

Farmers took advantage of three Eagle errors to take a two-run lead in the third inning. Eagles came back with one marker in the fourth before Farmers clinched the game with a three-run outburst in the ninth.

Bernie Anderson and Norm Forbes paced the winners' attack. Anderson connected for a double and a single while Forbes had two singles. Ron Karadimis, Ken Higgs and Al Kubicek each had two singles for the losers.

Line score follows:

Farmers 5, Eagles 1
Eagles 100 000—1 30 2
Bill Garner and Bernie Anderson; Paul Beck and Al Kubicek.

Presenting...The most radical single development in all Tire History!

The Great New LIFEWALL FOR ALL TIRE SAFETY

Now! POSITIVE Blowout Prevention!

This all new "air-container" multiplies the strength of your old tires, doubles the strength of your new tires. You gain in economy because you increase the life of whatever tires you own. To Know and Remember: Dominion Royal Lifewall is an inner wall of "flexing" nylon safety, the most perfect air-container ever developed, powerfully bridging from within the rupture and blowout risks.

TESTS LIKE THESE ARE PROOF!

This is a "LIFEWALL" within a Dominion Royal tire. It's a 6-inch steel wire at full speed! The tire was completely unharmed. There was no puncture to any part! (Other tires in test without "LIFEWALL" instantly ruptured, blew out, threw cars out of control.)

Now you see a LIFEWALL within a Dominion Royal tire. Something like a gaping cut-hole? No blowout — no loss of air or safety! LIFEWALL and Dominion Royal tire come through with no damage — inside or out!

Bombers Rate Grid Favorites

BY AL VICKERY

WINNIPEG (CP) — Each autumn—well, that's when football is supposed to start—the West's recurrent attack of football fever nears the crisis stage. Right now, everybody is calling Winnipeg Blue Bombers as "the team to beat" in the West this year.

They point to Bombers' impressive pre-season victories over Ottawa Rough Riders and the defending champion Toronto Argonauts; Winnipeg's abundance of Canadian talent; and their top-flight imports.

COACH CAUTIOUS

Everybody is picking the Bombers, that is, except coach George Trafton.

The bruising former Chicago Bear centre recalls his last two years as coach of the Winnipeg aggregation. On paper and in the eyes of most fans, Bombers were "the team to beat" both in 1951 and 1952. But they never went east in search of the Grey Cup.

Edmonton Eskimos knocked them off in the Western semi-finals in 1951. The same Eskimos spotted Bombers, who walked away with the league race, one game in last year's Western final then roared back to take two straight.

"Sure, we're stronger than last year," says Trafton, "and, barring injuries, we'll hold our own."

FACES PROBLEM

One of the strongest arguments that the 1953 Bombers are going to be tough is that, for the first time in many years, their coach is having a rough time cutting his Canadian players. They've never had it so good.

Bombers are well stocked with 14 imports.

Assured of their positions, barring injuries, are tackles Dick Huffman and Buddy Tinsley, both Western all-stars last year, and lanky ends Neill Armstrong and Bud Grant. Armstrong sat out last season after making the West's all-stars in 1951. Grant was second leading offensive end in the National Football League last year while with Philadelphia Eagles.

A fixture at quarterback is Jack Jacobs, now a four-year man with Bombers. Jacobs, named to the all-stars and also most valuable man in the league, set a WIFU record in 1952 by tossing 34 touchdown passes. He also excels on kicking and defensive work. Vying for the other three import spots are these newcomers: Quarterback Tommy Thompson, former Philadelphia great who came up originally as backfield coach; full-back Ray John Dillon, last year with Hamilton Tiger-Cats; half Bill Bye, formerly with University of Minnesota; and centre Keith Carpenter, from San Jose State via Edmonton Eskimos.

Hold-over imports include: Quarter Joe Zaleski, half Gerry Palmer, fullback Ralph McAllister, centre John Brown and tackle Sam Nevills, who relieved Huffman and Tinsley until cut-off time last year.

NEW 'CANADIAN'

One big help for Trafton is the qualifying of all-star Tom Casey as a non-import this season after four years of Canadian football.

One break the players will have will be performing in Winnipeg's new $500,000, 16,000-seat stadium, far cry from the 9,000 seats in Osborne Stadium.

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers of the American League Wednesday signed their first Negro player. He is Claude Agee, 18, an outfielder from McKeesport, Pa.

DO FALSE TEETH Rock, Slide or Slip?

PASTERTEK, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. PASTERTEK is alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTERTEK at any drug store.

BEG Stadium Assured

VANCOUVER (CP) — After two weeks of argument, mollycoddle and mix-up, Vancouver is assured of a 35,000-seat, floodlit and roofed stadium for the 1954 British Empire Games.

Games general chairman Stan Smith said so Wednesday. He told executive members at a meeting that if original plans are not approved by city council Friday, the games committee will build the stadium "on our own hook" and without the use of $750,000 in civic funds provided through a by-law passed last December.

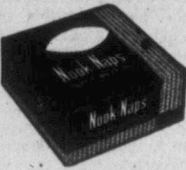

"Through a long distance phone call and from other contributing factors," he said, "if council is unfavorable to our plans or if there is more delay—we have a further proposal."

SIR GORDON HONORED

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Sir Gordon Richards, Britain's champion jockey, added a new souvenir to his collection Wednesday—a gold medal from Trinidad.

Cost-cutting plans were suggested. One, the most acceptable to the games committee itself, would leave off the roof covering 6,500 seats on one side and leave installation of an estimated $100,000 worth of field lighting installation for a later date.

Death Ruled Accidental

SANDSPIT, B.C. (CP)—A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death Tuesday night in the death of F.O. R. S. Sharp of Courtenay, victim of a hotel fire here Sunday. Sharp was a member of an RCAF Lancaster crew taking part in the search for a missing private plane. Thirty other airmen in the hotel escaped the blaze by leaping through windows, but it is believed Sharp was overcome by fumes.

Esquimalt Plans 26-Lot Subdivision

Subject to approval of the minister of municipal affairs, a $30,000 subdivision development of 26 lots on Greenwood Avenue, Esquimalt, will get underway within two weeks, it was announced Wednesday.

Municipal engineer J. Graeme added that the new subdivision will be completed in every respect before bids on the lots are accepted.

Esquimalt council recently decided to provide storm and sanitary sewers, sidewalks, street lighting, a paved road and water service.

Funds for the improvements will be taken from a reverted property fund if the minister approves.

Duncan Inquest In Fire Death Adjourned Again

Special to The Times
DUNCAN—An adjournment until September 7 was made Wednesday at the inquest of Dhana Singh—known to his English-speaking friends as B. John.

He died in a fire that started in his bedroom at the Duncan Midway Hotel on August 7.

The adjournment was made because Coroner A. E. Green had not received a report from the department of mines, Victoria. He told the jury that G. C. Cave, chief analyst and assayer of the department of mines, had not sent the toxicological analysis.

Coroner Green remarked to the jury that there was "Nothing unusual about the delay for they are very busy."

Chaplin Baby Named Eugene

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP).—Charlie Chaplin's new eight-pound baby boy has been named Eugene after Mrs. Chaplin's father, playwright Eugene O'Neill. The baby was born Sunday night at a clinic here. Mrs. Chaplin, the former Oona O'Neill, and the baby were reported doing well at the clinic Wednesday.

Fire Investigation After Town Threatened

HILLSBURG, Ont. (BUP)—Firemen today sought the cause of a blaze which threatened to destroy the main business section of this community 20 miles northwest of Guelph.

The fire razed a bakery, a private garage and did heavy damage to a large warehouse.

"THE BEAST FROM 20,000 FATHOMS" (Dominion): In a way this is a remarkably arty picture.

After all, it isn't every day that you can watch a 140,000-year-old rhedosaurus gambol about before your eyes sinking ships on the high seas, gobbling up a whopping number of horrified citizens, knocking down the towers of Manhattan and generally reducing our brave new world into a chaotic shambles. Is it?

No, and yet it isn't beyond the realm of possibility that there are actually some theatre-goers who might look down their long, arty noses at their beastly and prehistoric him to be unadulterated trash. Pshaw! Just because he wasn't conceived by Eliot, Barry, Shaw or Balzac!

Although the average movie fan won't recognize their names the real heroes of Warner Bros. "The Beast From 20,000 Fathoms" happen to be Ray Harryhausen and Willis Cook who contributed the special effects.

After watching old pal rhedosaurus play along with the boys and girls from our era after having being packed away in ice for all those millions of years before an atom bomb blast released him, you get to thinking how clever Messrs. Harryhausen and Cook really are.

The monster is in perfect scale (from what we have learned about rhedosaurus) and its motions are splendidly realistic. The fact that it acts a bit jerkily at times doesn't mean much because who isn't a trifle shaky at 140,000,000? Therefore, if Harryhausen and Cook are responsible for this creation they have contributed something to art. And, before you sneer too loudly, could you create a rhedosaurus as genuinely scaly and repulsive as the rhedosaurus created by Harryhausen and Cook?

Considering their unchummy looking co-star, Paul Christian, Paula Raymond, Cecil Kellaway, Kenneth Tobey and Jack Pennick acquitted themselves nobly. They played their parts with a sincerity that couldn't have been more sincere if they had been playing opposite a Barrymore or a Garbo. And surely, under the circumstances, there could not be a higher accolade than this.

In recapitulation: If you admire this type of art then "The Beast From 20,000 Fathoms" is for you.

And you can have him.

Liberal Leader Urges Whatshan Slide Probe

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal leader Arthur Laing asked Wednesday for a full-scale public inquiry into the Whatshan power plant mudslides which heavily damaged the new hydro plant of the B.C. Power Commission.

The Social Credit government has announced that an intensive study of the situation will be made by an engineering firm from Niagara Falls.

"It is in the public interest that this report be a public document," said Mr. Laing.

He also suggested that costs of restoring the plant be borne by the whole province.

The Whatshan plant was hit by two mudslides in one week, causing extremely heavy damage.

STRONG ACTION SOUGHT

At Armstrong, a meeting of representatives from Kamloops, Salmon Arm, Sicamous, Enderby, Vernon and Lumb considered the problem at a meeting Tuesday night. Strong action was advocated by all sections of the North Okanagan and Kamloops districts.

Packinghouse and lumber interests expressed serious concern, and urged that emergency power be made available as quickly as possible. Fears were expressed that the McIntosh

Mental Cases Much Reduced

TOPEKA, Kas. (UP)—The Topeka State Hospital, where a re-organized treatment program has achieved substantial results, believes it is the only state mental institution in the U.S. whose patient census has decreased radically in recent years.

At the start of the new fiscal year, the hospital had fewer patients than at any time since 1912. This was true even though more patients were admitted during the last 12 months than at any time in the past 20 years.

Nearly 1,800 patients were in the institution when the re-organization of the hospital was undertaken in 1948. The patient roster numbered 1,392 on July 1.

Dr. Clark Case, acting superintendent, said the ratio of patients discharged as recovered or improved to those admitted hit a gratifying high 66 per cent in the last year. Prior to 1948 the average was closer to 40 per cent.

Admissions during the year totaled 396 and discharges as recovered or improved 263. In addition to those discharged, 265 others were placed on convalescent leaves in preparation for discharge.

B.C. Government Plans Reports on Financial Status

The provincial government's financial status will be open to the public view throughout the year.

Finance Minister Einar Gunderson has announced that the government will make frequent reports on government revenues and other financial phases starting during the next fiscal year, which starts April 1.

The plan was first proposed by Mr. Gunderson during the last session, but it couldn't be introduced this year because it involves a re-organization of the government's accounting system.

Previously, matters pertaining to government revenues have only been divulged when the Legislature met.

MISSING B.C. BUSH PILOT FOUND SAFE

EDMONTON (CP)—The RCAF reported Wednesday night that bush pilot Herman Petersen of Albert Bay, B.C., has been found and is in good condition. Petersen had been missing since Thursday when he took off in his plane for Stewart, B.C.

An RCAF spokesman said Petersen walked into a weather station at Dease Lake Wednesday after a trek of 75 miles from Lower Iskut Lake. There were no other details.

POLIO MAY BE COMMON AS COLD, SAYS DOCTOR

LAKE WASKESIU, Sask. (CP)—Polio may be as common as the annual convention of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons was told Wednesday.

Dr. C. S. Best of Regina, chairman of a panel discussion on polio, said large numbers of persons were infected in childhood and thereby gained resistance to its paralytic effects. But since there was no rash or skin test, there was no easy, scientific laboratory test available.

Health departments and community doctors should stress the importance of panic-free publicity and spend more time with parents of victims.

The panel said there was some hope for relief of polio from new vaccines. There was "great" hope in the new laboratory diagnostic aids, especially tissue cultures.

SPCA Entertains Hundreds At Open House Program

More than 750 people crowded the SPCA Shelter on Wilson Street for an "open house" Wednesday, held in conjunction with the association's current drive for funds.

Dog obedience tests, when eight dogs were put through their paces, drew the heaviest attendance.

Discussing work of the shelter, one official said every kitten in the shelter could have had a home "if parents allowed their children to have them." Several "adoptions" were arranged at the open house.

Sum of $350 was collected during the visit from donations, memberships, home cooking and white elephant stalls. A $25 donation will operate the shelter and provide other SPCA services for one day, while $2.50 provides more than one day's rations for the animals in the shelter.

During the U.S. Civil War many soldiers carried four revolvers for close-range combat.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

I can't understand why there is so much fuss about a boat being built in the Senate building. It is probably the only constructive project to take place there since Confederation.

A few days ago a constituent wrote to report that tallyho drivers refer to the Loretto Hall gardens as belonging to "Mr. Topiary," and asked who on earth Mr. Topiary might be.

And now here is Miss Audrey Downham, 3924 Blenkinsop Road, to supply the answer:

"As I was born in Victoria, I can give you all the information regarding 'Mr. Topiary.' First of all, there never was such a person connected with those gardens. They used to be known as Penderay's Topiary Gardens years ago, and have been in existence as far back as I can remember.

"Mr. Penderay, who was connected with the Bapco Paint Co., had it as his family home before the nuns took over and it became Loretto Hall.

"Topiary" actually refers to the shapes of the bushes; for example the bear and the birds. The meaning of topiary is the work or art of training and trimming trees or shrubs into odd or ornamental shapes.

"If the tallyho and sightseeing buses are to give tourists correct information regarding historical landmarks and places such as Penderay's Garden they should undergo training and a course which will give correct information."

Thank you, Miss Downham. And as a start, the sightseeing guides might memorize the above.

(Thanks also to the other constituents who wrote to explain "topiary," and especially to H. J. Penderay—who certainly should know!)

A contribution to the mild discussion on a license fee for cats has now been made by Miss Adelaide Marshall, 749 Fort Street. She forgot to supply the music, but the words are:

Oh Monte, why take it out on pussy cats
And say a license they should pay
Do you know that where there is a cat,
Rats and mice won't ever stay?
Oh, what a swarm of rats we'd have,
If pussy cats were taxed,
So please relax and think like me,
Pussy saves rat-catcher's fee.

Wonder if Miss Marshall has taken out her poetic license?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Nine-year-old Frank Neel, 844 Johnson Street, wasn't having any luck fishing off Johnson Street bridge Wednesday afternoon so he left his fishing gear on a footpath leading from the roadway to the wharf below and took to another game. When he came back to pick up his rod and reel, it was gone. Frank's father, who reported the loss to city police, said the equipment was worth $11.50.

A $35 fine was imposed upon Mrs. Catherine Irene Michael, 501 Gorge Road, found guilty in police court today on a charge of careless driving. The charge followed a two-car collision Aug. 13 at Government and Johnson, which caused $200 damage to vehicles involved.

Stuart Mitchell, 1232 Pembroke Street, was fined $35 for careless driving when found guilty by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in city police court today. Mitchell was charged in connection with an accident Aug. 12 at Oswego and Michigan in which his car was in collision with one driven by Arthur Drew, 85 Moss Street.

Monthly meeting of the Gordon Head Garden Club will be held in the Gordon Head Hall next Monday at 8 p.m. The speaker will be W. J. Pimm and his subject "Preparing Material for Exhibition."

City firemen were called this morning to extinguish a grass fire in the 1100 block of Pembroke Street.

Committee on School Subjects To Be Revamped

British Columbia's curriculum committee, the group which decides what subjects will be taught in schools, soon will be revamped. Education Minister Tilly Ralston is expected to announce within the next few weeks replacement of some of the educationists on the committee with persons from other walks of life.

The committee is now composed wholly of educationists. But Mrs. Ralston wants representatives of business and industry on the committee. She believes these persons are more in touch with the life of the country and know better how young people should be trained to meet the future.

Meanwhile, the education department is preparing for the new school term when an extra 10,000 to 12,000 children will enroll.

Enrollment this year is expected to be a record of 214,000. The shift system is expected to be implemented in only a few isolated areas.

John Gordon Chilton of Nanaimo, son of Rev. and Mrs. Frank Chilton of 1125 Leonard Street, Victoria, has been named the first customs and excise officer at Kitimat, effective September 1.

Kitimat is the first customs office established in recent years with the status of a full port. This is due to the tremendous growth of the area.

Two new truck tires were reported stolen from Wilson Motors showroom at 925 Yates Street Wednesday.

David Moore, 18, of 1505 Monterey Avenue, sustained injuries to his head and face Wednesday night when the motorcycle he was driving ran into gravel on the side of Cedar Hill Road, in Saanich; went out of control, and skidded into the bush.

Gary Wray, 17, of 4250 Cedar Hill, a passenger on the machine, escaped without injuries.

By PETE LOUDON
Lights and a winter-time pot-bellied stove are necessary additions to the Beacon Hill Park Lookout.

The need is kicked around daily by members of the Beacon Hill Crib, Crab and Checker Club.

The Crib, Crab and Checker Club hasn't really got a name. It has no written records either, but it is none-the-less an exclusive, close-knit group.

Members must be beyond retiring age in order to attend daily "meetings" in the "club room"—the Beacon Hill Park

Lookout.

Daily means even on cold, wet days when the wind howls through the guy-wires on the Lookout flag pole. That accounts for the need of the stove.

The meetings now break up at dark, that accounts for the need for lights.

They must all be past masters in cribbage and checkers in order to break in. The third pastime, crabbing, is all done in a spirit of fun, and seems to come naturally.

BADGE OF CONTENTMENT

The badge of the club is a contented visage, but the members have other identifying marks. Many carry a small kitchen screw hook, which when turned into the tip of a cane, enables the owner to lift huge checkers that are being piloted over a ten-by-ten foot checker board without stooping.

The younger, more agile members, who are barely in their seventies, can be known by their scuffed toes. They kick the checkers from square to square.

This show of youthful exuberance is frowned upon by some of the more sedate senior members.

House rules demand silence of the kibitzers who average five to a checker contest. Nodding in agreement with a move of a quiet groan at a mislay is accepted.

Watchers can also get up and replace a checker with a king after it has crossed the board.

This saves distracting the athletes. They can also, and are expected to, chase kids away.

MORE LATITUDE

The crib players are permitted more leeway. They can be heard "fifteen-twoing" even above the scrape of the checkers. The higher the count, the shriller the scoring.

They are also given to hampering "goes" on the elbow-polished table tops. This habit discourages members who arrive at the Lookout with a few sheets of hotel paper already folded into a blank envelope, ready for a letter-writing session.

Though several members have been regular arrivals for eight and 10 years, new blood comes in and senior members

"graduate."

And if Heaven is as they imagine it, it looks like the Beacon

Hill Lookout... but has more warmth and a light in the evening.

Lights for evening play and a stove to keep things cosier in winter are the hopes of Beacon Hill "Four C's" members.

Freak Blast Blamed

Home Is Damaged Despite Caution

Workmen for G. W. Ledingham Construction Company were using "all possible precautions" when blasting rock in the Tolmie-Cook area, which damaged a home at 3192 Highview Wednesday, a company spokesman said today.

"It was one of those unpredictable things—a freak happening which we cannot account for," he said. "We have practically finished blasting."

Workmen were excavating for a new water main along Tolmie Avenue and up over the summit between the end of Tolmie and Cook. They warned residents to take cover.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Beaumont, their two children, Ruth and David, a young playmate, Susan Derricks, and Mrs. A. Eburne and her two-year-old son all went into the Beaumont's home at 3192 Highview until the explosion was over.

FOUR DIRECT HITS

The blast hurled four boulders, weighing in excess of 50 pounds each, approximately 100 yards onto the Beaumont's roof.

Four holes were punched in the roof as the rocks plunged through, striking the attic floor. One boulder smashed the east eaves of the house.

A company spokesman said they had blasted thousands of tons of rock in the past two months, some only 10 yards away from a house, and no damage was done.

"Only heaven can tell why this one, with more mass than actually needed, caused the damage," he said. "It's the first damage we've done."

He stated the company would pay for any damage and said an insurance adjuster was brought in immediately.

The children's sand box in the Beaumont lot, where the children had been playing before the warning, was covered with particles of rock, plaster and branches of a tree.

Workmen immediately rushed to the house to see if anyone was hurt.

Mr. Beaumont said all the houses on Slater Street would be endangered as further blasting was scheduled.

"Wherever there is an explosion there is the possibility of damage," said a company spokesman, referring to the comment.

Bookmaker Guilty Of Fourth Offense

A $300 fine for bookmaking was imposed in city police court today.

George H. Grainger pleaded guilty to allowing the recording of bets at the Empire Cigar Store, 1318 Government.

Court was told accused had three previous convictions.

Police raided the cigar store Wednesday afternoon and Sgt. Stanley Holmes exhibited a quantity of racing paraphernalia seized.

Undeclared Champ in Victoria

In the days when Gene Tunney was first emerging as a threat to Jack Dempsey's heavyweight boxing title, the boys on Jacobs Beach used to sneer at him as "The Shakespeare Kid." They couldn't understand a fighter who actually liked to read. In Victoria Wednesday, undefeated champion Tunney had lost none of his taste for reading, while away the time with "The Cruel Sea." EX-CHAMP NO CHUMP

Remembered Sunset Brings Tunney Here

By BRIAN NICHOLSON

Through the windows of his Empress Hotel suite the man who retired in 1928 as undefeated heavyweight boxing champion of the world looked out at a Victoria sunset.

"That's what I came to see," said Gene Tunney.

He turned from the window and sat down in an armchair.

Bronzed and firmly built, he looked far too young for a man who, the records say, was born in 1898. His hair is thick and dark with no sign of grey.

"Years ago in 1927 I stopped overnight in Victoria. I thought then what a beautiful place it was and determined to come again as soon as I could."

He was shown the Parliament Buildings and met members of the legislature, then.

"However what with the war and increasing business commitments this is the first time I've been able to make it—and I'm sorry to say once again it's only for one night," said Gene.

With him are his wife and two children, Jonathan (17) and Joan (14).

WELL READ

Tunney is a delightful person to interview. He is well read, easy to talk to. There are none of those awkward pauses that so often happen when neither person can think what to say next.

In the space of nearly an hour the conversation flitted from new books to the futility of come-backs by former giants of the ring.

The last book he read was Nicholas Montserrat's "The Cruel Sea." It was beside him on a table.

"I thought it was magnificent," he said. "The author has caught the very terror and majesty of the sea, but why did he have to kill off Julie? After she died I didn't want to read any more."

(Julie, for those who have not read the book or need to be reminded, was the WRNS officer in love with the first lieutenant of HMS Compass Rose.)

"No," he continued, "I think the Caine Mutiny was the better book. Maybe it's because I was in the U.S. Navy."

Gene joined the navy in December 1940 and served in all types of ships, including submarines, to see how the men lived under varying conditions. Later he was put in charge of the U.S. Navy physical fitness program.

Obviously it would be impossible to interview Gene Tunney without eventually talking about boxing. This time the subject was "Should Boxers Risk a Come-Back Once They Have Retired?"

"I retired in 1928," said Tunney, "and since then my only interest has been as a spectator. So many who were great fighters have returned to the ring hulks, with no resistance to punishment. Most of them have nearly ruined themselves physically and financially."

"No, I never attempted a come-back. I think any fighter who does make a serious mistake," he insisted.

BIG BUSINESS MAN

Gene made a lot of money as heavyweight champion and invested it sensibly. Today he is a big business man on the board of seven companies and taking an active part in each venture.

One of his greatest friends is his old adversary, Jack Dempsey, whom he won the title from in 1926, retaining it in a 1927 rematch.

"Jack's a wonderful fellow," he said.

So indeed is Gene Tunney.

Probe Seeks Blame In Whatshan Slides

Premier Won't Promise Release Of Report on Hydro Demolition

The two devastating slides which wrecked the B.C. Power Commission's Whatshan powerhouse and transformer station will be "looked into" by the government to determine if faulty engineering was to blame, Premier W. A. C. Bennett said today.

The premier, however, declined to state whether he would order the type of independent investigation which would release its report to the public.

Legislative Legal-Eagle House Rarity

By GORDON FORBES

Times Legislative Reporter
British Columbia lawyers are either deserting politics or the voters are deserting them.

The 24th Legislature, which opens Sept. 15, will have but two members of the legal profession among its numbers—Attorney General Robert Bonner and Liberal Arthur Brown of Prince Rupert.

Not so many years ago the legal talent among the legislators was abundant. It wasn't uncommon to have six or more lawyers in the House.

And who is taking over from the legal-eagles?

It seems the school teachers are moving in.

The House will have four teachers. No other occupation is so well represented.

TWO MINISTERS

The teachers are doing well for themselves, too. Two of them became cabinet ministers in their first fling at politics, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black and Lands and Forests Minister Robert E. Sommers.

Another became leader of the official opposition, CCF leader Arnold Webster of Vancouver East riding.

Teacher Randy Harding of Silverton in Kaslo-Slocan riding, who also is a logger, is one of the CCF party's most capable debaters and last session was caucus chairman.

The government had three ministers as candidates in the last election, electing two, Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi and Rev. Charles Parker of Peace River. Rev. Harry Francis of Revelstoke, a native Victorian, failed to make the grade.

The agriculturists haven't many voices in the new House. Only two farmers, Sorensen and Cyril Sheldoff of Omineca, and J. A. Reid of Salmon Arm, a rancher, Sorensen and Frank Richter of Sillameen, are among the law makers.

There'll be but one doctor in the legislature, Nanaimo's Dr. Larry Giovando, the sole conservative MLA. The amount of the last session he gave at the last session to fellow MLAs from all parties (they included Harold Winch and J. A. Reid) makes him a vital part of life in the legislature.

SICK DOCTOR

But his trouble is he didn't watch his own health through the years and overwork in his big practise in the hub city finally laid him low. The popular doctor is suffering from a serious lung condition which may sideline him from the political arena.

The House will have only three retired men. Listed as retired in government publications are Speaker-designate Thomas Irwin, CCF'er Vincent Segur and Sorensen R. O. Newton of Columbia.

And when it comes to the budget, only one legislator will be able to study it with the training of a chartered accountant—Liberal P. A. Gibbs of Oak Bay. Finance Minister Einar Gunderson is a chartered accountant, but he won't be allowed to sit in the House again until he wins a seat.

Sunday Service Last of Series

The ninth and final Sunday evening community Gospel service in the summer series sponsored by the Victoria branch, Christian Businessmen's Committee International, will be held at Cameron Memorial Pavilion, Beacon Hill Park, Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Citadel Corps of the Salvation Army will conduct service under Major W. Oakley, officer-in-charge, who will give the Gospel message.

The Army band under Bandmaster Max Chalk will begin playing at 7:15 and the Salvation Army Songsters will participate with William Hastings as choir-master.

$200 Cheque Lifts Local Polio Fund

A $200 cheque from the British Columbia Cement Company lifted the Vic Van Isle Kinsmen Polio Fund to close to the $1,500 mark today.

Meanwhile, no new cases of polio were recorded in Victoria. One new case was shipped here from Nanaimo Wednesday night. The total for this year now stands at 54 for the Island, 43 for Greater Victoria. There have been two deaths.

HIS HANDS HELPED

81-Year-Old Saw Victoria Grow to City

By BOB HUTCHISON

Sixty-four years ago on May 24, as the Vancouver boat rounded Beacon Hill, sky rockets and fireworks heralded the arrival of a 17-year-old youngster, fresh out from England.

That 17-year-old boy recalled today that it was a Saturday night and clear, as most May 24's are in Victoria.

Except for two years in Africa, that youngster has lived ever since in Victoria. Sunday, Harry Jones, still a youngster in mind, will be 81.

In the contracting business most of his life, both as a bricklayer and later as a partner in his firm, Mr. Jones has seen Victoria grow through the years. Many of its buildings he worked on personally.

Taking out an old picture of Victoria he pointed proudly to a building standing on the north end of the old James Bay bridge, on what would now be the north entrance to the Empress Hotel from Humboldt Street.

"See this room here on the third floor?" he asked. "That was my first home in Victoria. I used to row a boat under the bridge down to the old Weiler building to where the Empress laundry is now and get drift-wood for my fire."

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

This column has a heart-warming story to tell you today... one that should... to use a well-worn but well-loved expression... warm the cockles of your heart!

For it has to do with kindness, sympathy and understanding. Something many people, especially those who need it most, very often doubt exists.

Bessie

The story centres around a group of Victoria women, each of whom is well known in public and club life in the city, who have banded together as individuals, to plan a project that will be of interest to everyone.

It's a mammoth fashion show and tea with net proceeds to be earmarked as an Irene Byatt Benefit Fund.

Irene Byatt does not need to be introduced in this column. For every Victorian knows the smiling dark-haired girl with the glorious voice.

It is common knowledge too, that she is filled with a tremendous desire to sing. And that, through the Victoria Musical Art Society, who presented her with several scholarships, she was enabled to study in England for more than a year.

During that time Irene saw her dreams begin to come true, for she was heard in concert in many of the larger cities in the British Isles.

In order to reach these cities, the young singer often had to pay more in railway fares than she received for her singing. And, as the scholarships were completed, it wasn't always easy to find the money. It meant skipping and saving the small salary she received for secretarial work... and in some instances living on bread and potatoes for days at a time.

Must Go on If She Is to Succeed

This summer Irene has been home. But she MUST return to London in early October, for she has engagements to fulfill. And more and more studying to do.

Many Victorians have a keen pride and interest in this young singer. Many have expressed a wish to assist her in a tangible way... if only a way could be found. THAT'S WHY THE TEA AND FASHION SHOW HAS BEEN PLANNED.

It will be held in Club Sirocco, afternoon and evening, on Wednesday, Sept. 30.

The fashion show in itself is in the nature of an event, for it is being presented by Mallek's Ladies' Ready-to-Wear... the first time this well-known firm has presented such a show in 40 years.

Mr. Lawrence Mallek will bring 18 attractive mannequins from Vancouver to present the new autumn styles that will feature all the latest in color, fabric and design.

And to make the affair a complete success Irene Byatt will sing a group of songs at both showings.

Victoria club women planning this project include Mrs. Bessie Smith, Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin, Mrs. H. Parkes, Mrs. W. Holder, Mrs. C. W. Paulin, Mrs. Tom Lumsden, Mrs. A. Curtis, Mrs. M. Webb, Mrs. A. J. Butterfield, Mrs. W. H. Wilson and Mrs. C. C. Warren.

Preliminary plans are all made... now it's up to you! Show Irene Byatt in a tangible way you are proud of her and that you'd like her to go on to further fame.

Remember the date, Wednesday, Sept. 30... and the place, Club Sirocco... afternoon and evening!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Play Is Fun if It Comes As Respite From Work

The change from summer fun to college days is quite a sudden change. In fact the switch from summer tempo with outdoor meals, rest periods in the sunlight, play clothes and paper napkins to more formal and demanding fall and winter, provides a change of pace for everyone.

Psychologists tell us that the happiest folks are those who live richly in the present all through their lives. Those young people who throw themselves into college studies and activities will enjoy the vacation time more than those who just mill along all year through.

I have always been conscious of the value of change of pace and have often thought, when cosily settled in bed with a good book after a hard day of work, "people who do not work cannot understand the luxury of this."

While you are in college, make that time count with good hard work. You will enjoy your play times much more if you do. I realize that this sounds a little like telling you to knock yourself on the head with a hammer because it will feel so good when you stop. However, it does give you a lift to do enthusiastically whatever it is you are doing. There is a great excitement and exhilaration in accomplishment.

And don't be a one-sided Jane. Participate in some of your college activities outside the regular classrooms. School organizations and sports and clubs will give you many new interests and friends and enrich your life.

Do not let shyness keep you from trying out for some of these. There is a place of some sort in which every college girl can feel that she is doing a good job and discovering new interests and skills.

Few young people find out how to concentrate when studying while they are in high school. This knowledge usually comes in college. Once you learn this you will find that you can keep your grades at a fine level and still have time left for other college activities. How much happier it is to settle down and concentrate for a few hours and then feel free the rest of the time.

Diamonds that are worn often should be cleaned once a month to keep their sparkle. Detergent in a cup of steaming water is all the cleaning matter necessary.

Early September Wedding Day

Announcement is made of the engagement of Constance Joan, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Renphrey, 2727 Avebury Avenue, to PO Joseph Matthew Ottenbreit, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ottenbreit of Dysart, Sask. The wedding will take place in Belmont United Church on Sept. 5, at 7.30 p.m., with Rev. Melvin Dobson officiating. Mrs. Eril Kalyan will be matron of honor, Misses Deanna McGregor and Gerry Hector, bridesmaids, and Miss Nadean Reid, Regina, a cousin of the bride-elect, junior bridesmaid. Bill Appleton will be best man. (Photo by Chevrons.)

Terry Cloth Tips For Summer Wear

You're seeing terry cloth in every country or beach scene this summer. Perhaps you have shorts, top, jacket, stole, skirt or handsome robe in this fabric. Although it takes to soap and water like a towel, your terry cloth garment shouldn't look like a towel when you're wearing it.

ing it, especially a "rough dried" one. You'll have to give a little more care to the laundering than you give to the bathroom blotters.

If it's a deep, dark color, wash it by hand once or twice, until you're sure it's color-fast. Later you can throw it into the washing machine, with other dark colors. If it's a pale color or white, you can put it into the machine from the first.

Don't tumble-dry unless it's a bathrobe. A tailored garment should be shaped while still damp and hung in a breeze.

Before hanging, give the garment a good, hard shake. Then close buttons or fasteners, and pull trimmings, binding, tapes or fringe between the fingers to straighten them. Hang tops on a shaped hanger that's rust-proof. Hang skirts or pedal pushers on a skirt hanger.

Eyebrows will rise and shine this fall, according to Jean Despres, cosmetics expert. The widely-arched, wing-shaped eyebrow will be pencilled into a high curve over eyes merely shadowed with color and with lashes darkened.

Abrupt Change in Girl Mystifies Young Man

By ELIZABETH B. HURLUCK, PhD

Sometimes a person drifts along until he suddenly realizes that he is getting into deep water. That may explain this young woman's change of heart. The man who loves her writes:

(Q) "I am a fellow 27 years old. Seven months ago, I started going steady with a girl I love dearly. Just out of the blue, she broke off with me recently. I know she hasn't another fellow. She went away for a week's vacation not long ago, and when she returned I asked her if she missed me. She said, 'Not as much as I would like to.' I had a talk with her, as her mother advised me to do, but no go. Her mother doesn't understand her either. Please advise me what to do."

(A.) The only thing you can do is to adopt a "wait and see" policy. If there is no change of heart on the part of the girl, you might as well accept the fact that your romance is a thing of the past.

What is unquestionably back of her action is her vacation experience. It's unlikely that she met someone else—a week is too short to get to know anyone very well. But it was long enough to allow her to get a better perspective on her romance with you. Away from you, she had an opportunity to test her feelings.

And, from the comment she made to you on her return, the test was obviously not in your favor. The very fact that she did not miss you enough to feel that you were the one and only person in the world for her has made her stop and think.

If she did not miss you while she was away, is it not possible that she realized that she was drifting into deep water and might find herself at the altar with a man she didn't love? She was wise, in view of her feelings, to call a halt to her romance before she hurt herself and you too. You can only wait and see if time will bring a change in her feelings.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

An easy way to eliminate annoyances from ants in the home, yard or garden is to treat the nests with an insecticide preparation. If nests cannot be found, apply insecticide solution to cracks and openings through which the ants enter.

For sure-fire moth protection, clean all garments before storing, then place them in sealed bags or packages. Moth larvae feed on dirt and grease, so don't let them find anything to eat on your clothes.

To press a necktie properly, first draw its outline in cardboard. Cut out the outline and insert it between the layers of material. Place tie between slightly dampened cloths and press both front and back, moving iron gently in the direction of the straight of the goods. If the tie is rayon, use warm setting.

Tag Day—Mrs. W. J. V. Church, assisted by Miss M. I. Curry, will convene a tag day Sept. 12, for Women's Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital. Plans were discussed at a picnic luncheon held at home of Mrs. R. A. Dykes, Portage Inlet, attended by 27 members. The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Judy, and friend and by Mrs. Allan M. Sheppard. A sing-song of old favorite melodies was held following lunch. It was announced sewing meetings will be held by the auxiliary in hospital annex, Sept. 9 and 16.

"Hey! You see what I see?"

When a lion appeared on a street in Memphis people fled for the doorways, and from behind windows they asked each other, "How come?"

Even though they could watch the lion with their own eyes, they still didn't know the story.

It was from their newspapers that they first discovered that Goldie the lioness had slipped away from a downtown circus. She was so bewildered by the fuss she caused, she turned around and went back.

Being on the spot is not much better than seeing one or two photographs of the action or hearing a brief announcement.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

You need the newspaper for that.

● That goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air... or brief headlines here or there... may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.

Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocketbook.

Add to this the fact that the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most effective advertising medium.

No wonder advertisers—both retail and national—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

SHADES OF ARCTIC TREKS

Canadians Discover Bit of Perry's Flag

OTTAWA (CP)—A survey of Canada's northernmost shores has turned up a bonanza of relics from three long-ago Arctic expeditions, including one of the last missing pieces of Admiral R. E. Perry's famous North Pole flag.

The relics were displayed at a press conference Wednesday by two government scientists just returned from four months' exploration of the bleak north coast of Ellesmere Island, 500 miles from the North Pole.

The mementos were a romantic by-product of a strictly scientific excursion.

Geoffrey Hattersley-Smith, 30, Arctic specialist of the defense research board, ranged over Ellesmere's giant ice shelf testing a theory that the shelf spawned the giant ice islands which float in the Arctic Ocean to the north. He sent out stakes from which measurements will be taken next year by a larger, joint Canada-U.S. expedition.

With him was 25-year-old Robert Blackadar, mines department geologist who surveyed the rocks and soil of Ellesmere in preparation for a more complete geological survey some time in the future. Their travels, by sled and on foot, took them across the trails of three almost-forgotten expeditions.

The oldest was the 1875-76 British Navy's foray under Capt. George Nares. Its relics had been found in 1951 by John Lewis, in charge of the remote weather station at Alert on Ellesmere Island, which was headquarters for Hattersley-Smith and Blackadar.

From a rotting tent they recovered tattered clothing, flimsy sleeping bags, a medical kit and a tiny prayer book—equipment that contrasted sharply with the warm, modern clothing of this year's explorers who reported "no trouble" on their dangerous travels.

More exciting were the relics of Admiral Perry's 1906 expedition found in a five-foot stone cairn atop a 2,000-foot hill on Cape Columbia.

Under the topmost stones were a note by Perry and a portion of the U.S. flag which he later carried in his successful dash to the North Pole in 1909.

Hattersley-Smith said he hopes to return the piece of the flag to Perry's widow in Portland, Me. She made the flag and her explorer husband left six pieces of it at spots in the Arctic before he reached the pole.

Three pieces have already been returned to her and Hattersley-Smith said his is probably the last—the other two were left on the shifting ice floes and likely will never be found.

Mine Doubles Reward for Dynamiters

$2,000 Offered for Names of Terrorists

TIMMINS, Ont. (BUP)—Broulan Reef Mine doubled an original $1,000 reward today for solutions to two dynamitings in a stormy strike that has killed 1,000 miners in the Porcupine gold field.

The company offered $1,000 for evidence leading to conviction or commitment of whoever dynamited the home of shift boss Kenneth Myers and another $1,000 for the names of saboteurs who blew up a $12,000 transformer and ended an attempt to resume production last Saturday.

One-seventh of the area's total mining force was idle after the shutdown of the fourth mine, Delnite, Wednesday.

Sixty miners trying to go back to work at Broulan were blocked for the fourth successive day by a massed line of men the union said were "job-seekers." Harry Dykes, assistant superintendent, who was trying to take one car through the line, said he offered them jobs but found no takers.

NORANDA, QUE. (BUP)—Noranda mine's 1,600 striking employees were told today they would receive two weeks' back pay "as soon as possible" if they let the company payroll staff to the mine.

The delay is regrettable, but is due entirely to the union's action in denying access to the plant, mine manager C. E. Anderson said. "This action is prohibited by law."

Regular payday was Tuesday. The strike over the union is checkoff demand started early Saturday.

The United Steelworkers' Union had threatened the mine with legal action if the checks didn't arrive Wednesday, but turned back a party of office employees who were going in to make out the payroll.

Assistant mine manager J. H. Stovel admitted later that two of the party did not belong to the payroll division, but claimed all salaried employees were entitled to enter.

MARGARET AITKEN'S ELECTION TO COMMONS SEAT CONFIRMED

TORONTO (BUP)—A judicial recount officially elected a fourth woman to the House of Commons today.

York County Judge Robert Forsyth signed a certificate of the result of voting which gave Margaret Aitken, a Progressive Conservative and a Toronto newspaper columnist, a 67-vote margin over Kenneth Thompson, Liberal candidate and former mayor of Weston.

The decision made Miss Aitken the 10th woman in history elected to the House and the fourth elected this session. The other three all are from Ontario.

Disaster Averted When Two Aircraft Collide in Mid-Air

CHICAGO (UP)—A major disaster was narrowly averted when two loaded airliners collided in flight near here and then limped to safe landings with ragged holes torn in their tight metal bodies.

A difference of only two or three feet in the location of the holes would have spelled death for some of the 57 passengers aboard the two planes, experts said.

The accident occurred Wednesday night at a height of about 11,000 feet when a United Airlines plane and an American Airlines ship slammed into each other over Michigan City, Ind., about 60 miles east of here.

Some of the passengers prayed as wind whistled into the depressurized cabins and one young wife fingered a rosary, but witnesses said most of the passengers were "pretty calm."

The United Airlines plane set down at South Bend, Ind., with its 27 passengers.

A six-by-four foot hole was ripped in the top of the UAL plane, its co-pilot's window was shattered and the radio was out of commission.

The American plane turned back to Chicago and landed its passengers safely despite a three-foot hole in the undercarriage.

Canadian Lawyers Have Top Incomes

OTTAWA (CP)—It paid to be a lawyer in 1951. The revenue department disclosed today in its 1953 edition of taxation statistics that lawyers had the highest average income of all Canadian occupation groups in 1951, the latest year for which statistics are available.

The 4,970 lawyers who paid income tax in 1951 had an average income of $10,214. They were followed by medical doctors and surgeons with an average of $9,975 and consulting engineers and architects with $9,628.

The meeting is to start at 8. Invitations have been extended to school inspectors, principals, teachers and Legion members, but the meeting is open to anyone interested.

The new act provides for payment of tuition fees and a $25 a month allowance for children of men killed in the war who complete high school and wish to go on to college.

Sanity Test For Steno Who Killed Girl

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (UP)—An attorney said today he would seek a sanity test for Mildred McDonald, 25-year-old stenographer who said she went "plain crazy" and killed her former boy friend's younger sister.

The attorney, Dwight L. Allison of Belmont, Mass., who was retained by Miss McDonald's family to defend her against a murder charge, indicated he was considering the possibility of an insanity plea.

"Her mind must have snapped," he said. "I feel that in fairness to her she should have detailed psychiatric treatment while she is still in this terrible state."

Miss McDonald confessed in New York Wednesday that she fatally shot 14-year-old Mary Di Rocco to death in the Di Rocco home here Monday and tried to burn the body. She told police she flew into a rage when she thought the girl was "belittling" her because she had been killed.

NEW ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION AID DESCRIBED AT DUNCAN

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP)—The most advanced discovery in the field of artificial respiration is a simple face mask and rubber tube, says Dr. Sydney Segal of Vancouver General Hospital.

In an address Tuesday before the 22nd annual convention and fire college of B.C. fire chiefs, Dr. Segal termed the equipment and laboratory test reports on its efficiency "exciting news."

The mask and tube is an adaptation of the old "mouth-to-mouth" method of artificial respiration by which air was forced into the lungs of a person being revived.

The new method, which Dr. Segal demonstrated for delegates, uses a simple rubber mask held over the patient's face with the fingers of both hands. The tube connection to the mask is retained in the operator's mouth.

The operator forces air into the patient's lungs through the tube and mask. A small control vent in the tube near the mask allows the patient to exhale, while the operator is drawing fresh air into his own lungs.

Stein Warns Firemen Of Equipment Change

Senior Governments Bear Cost Of Standardizing Equipment

Special to The Times

DUNCAN—A warning to fire chiefs to make sure their community purchases the right kind of equipment in view of the fact the whole of B.C. will have standardized hose couplings, was made Wednesday by Maj.-Gen. C. R. Stein, provincial civil defense co-ordinator of Victoria.

Gen. Stein was addressing delegates to the 22nd annual convention and fire college of B.C. Fire Chiefs' Association being held this week in Duncan.

"In view of the change, if your municipalities and communities are considering the purchase of new equipment, keep your eye on it," said the speaker. It was pointless buying new equipment when in a few months it might be obsolete, he warned.

Since the chiefs' last convention, said the speaker, it had been decided by the provincial and federal governments to standardize hose couplings, for which they would carry the expense. The provincial government would pay two-thirds and the federal government one-third of the money involved in this change-over.

"Originally it had been decided that the federal and provincial governments would pay one-third of the cost each," said Gen. Stein, adding that the provincial government had intervened, arguing municipalities could not be expected to "carry the load."

Thread hose couplings would be used, said the speaker, because 75 per cent of fire departments in B.C. are now using them, and it would be uneconomical to change.

"The change-over will be carried out during the next few years. As soon as funds are available. We have $90,000 for the present year," he said.

Of the civil defense, Gen. Stein said it not only had its place in the community during war "but, as far as I am concerned, when any catastrophe occurs."

Other speakers during the day were Lieut.-Cmdr. J. Crowther, fire chief of HMC Dockyard, Victoria, who spoke on "Ventilation," and Chief Walter Carlisle, training officer, Vancouver fire department.

The conference concludes today.

Spain, Vatican Sign New Religious Treaty

VATICAN CITY (UP)—Spain and the Vatican signed an agreement today recognizing the Roman Catholic Church as "the only true religion of the Catholic nation" of Spain.

The agreement, a formal concordat or treaty, was signed after 558 days of secret negotiation.

It replaces the one concluded between Queen Isabella of Spain and Pope Pius IX in 1851.

The concordat reaffirms that the Catholic religion "continues being the only one of the Spanish nation."

However, it declares that Article VI of the Spanish constitution, that "no one will be molested on account of his religion, creed or the private practice of his cult," remains in force.

Spanish Foreign Minister Alberto Martin Artajo and Monsignor Domenico Tartini, pro-secretary of state for extraordinary affairs of the Vatican, signed the concordat. It contains 36 articles and a protocol.

The concordat confirms the existing status in Spanish Africa, meaning that Moslems and Jews may continue worship publicly.

The Spanish government guarantees the teaching of the Roman Catholic religion in schools of every kind and degree. But the children of non-Catholics may be excused from such instructions by request of their parents or tutors.

The 1851 concordat was nullified by the Vatican in 1951 due to what was called "the anti-religious policy of the Spanish Republic."

The library said they will be made public at a time set by the Taft family. The library called the papers an acquisition of "the first importance" and said they were a "deposit," not a gift.

N.S. Miners Demand Probe Into Industry

GLACE BAY, N.S. (BUP)—The executive of District 26 of the United Mine Workers Union asked the Nova Scotia government today for a royal commission to investigate all phases of the province's coal industry.

The request to Mines Minister A. H. Mackinnon was signed by district president Freeman Jenkins.

The industry is at present in a state of transition. The Dominion Coal Company is shutting down some of its mines and mechanizing others to cut down its $4,000,000 a year losses. Decreasing markets and outdated production methods also were responsible for a slack period.

New uses are being sought for Nova Scotia coal and the Dominion Coal Company is trying to raise efficiency by a modernization program that is expected to cut hundreds of men from Cape Breton underground jobs.

Cobble Hill Aims to Build 12 Schools

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has promised to study a Cobble Hill request to hold a plebiscite in the unorganized area of the Cowichan School district to get an opinion on formation of a new school district.

A delegation, headed by Esquimalt MLA Herbert Bruch and school trustee George Bonner, put the request before the premier Wednesday afternoon.

Premier Bennett said he would obtain data from the education department to compare school conditions in the Cobble Hill area at present with conditions when the district was first formed.

"We feel as a new district we can provide a better education than we are now receiving, with the amount now being charged to the unorganized area from all sources," the delegation contended.

The group recommended a new building program including: two rooms at Sahtlam, three rooms at Koksilah, one at Fairbridge, two at Cowichan Station, one at Glenora, one at Bamberton, one at Cherry Point, one at Mill Bay, one at Bay View, one at Cliffside, one at Sylvania, and an eight-room junior-senior high school at an unincorporated site.

Atomic Scientist May Be Coming to Post in Canada

LONDON (Reuters)—British supply ministry and Canadian officials here Wednesday said they could neither confirm nor deny reports that a Canadian university post may be found for a Russian-born scientist who has been given leave from his atomic research job.

A ministry spokesman confirmed that Boris Davison, mathematician employed at Britain's Harwell research station, had been given one year's leave of absence. "We know nothing about the reported Canadian post, however," he added.

The Daily Express claimed Davison was removed from his post because it was considered that he is open to "blackmail by Communist agents" because his parents are still in Russia. This reason has not been confirmed by an official source.

Argentine Launches Probe of Protestant Missionaries' Work

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Peron's government has named a commission to investigate the question of whether Protestant missionaries in Argentina endanger national defense along the frontiers and in special security zones.

Roman Catholicism is the official state religion in Argentina, but the government has created few obstacles to major Protestant missions in the past. The latest published census showed fewer than 311,000 Protestants among the country's 17,000,000 inhabitants.

Religious circles here believe the decree issued Wednesday creating the investigating commission is aimed particularly at missions of smaller non-Catholic groups, such as the Mormons, Seventh Day Adventists and Jehovah's Witnesses. It was apparently not aimed at the larger Protestant groups.

Dulles Denounces UN Charter As Obsolete, Pre-Atomic-Age

BOSTON (AP)—The United Nations charter is "pre-atomic age" and needs important alterations, U.S. State Secretary John Foster Dulles says.

He told the general assembly of the American Bar Association Wednesday that "as one who was at San Francisco where the charter was drafted and signed early in 1945, I can say with confidence that if the delegates there had known that the mysterious and immeasurable power of the atom would be available as a means of destruction, the provisions of the charter dealing with disarmament would have been far more emphatic and realistic."

"Ignorance" of atomic power was one of the inadequacies of the charter, he said.

Another "sprang from the fact that the three leaders who planned the United Nations were President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Generalissimo Stalin, the three who led the wartime victory coalition against Hitlerite Germany."

"Naturally, and inevitably they looked upon the United Nations as a kind of peacetime prolongation of the wartime triumvirate."

The third inadequacy was "disregard of the fact that world order, in the long run, depends not on men, but upon law."

Dulles has already announced that the U.S. will vote in favor of holding a review conference on the UN charter when the question comes up before the general assembly in 1955.

The Brooklyn Bridge was completed in 1883. Today, it carries about 37,000 vehicles a day.

Sloan Simpson O'Dwyer Won't See Newsman

COBH, Elre (UP)—Mrs. Sloan Simpson O'Dwyer, estranged wife of former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer, locked herself in her cabin when the liner America docked here today en route to New York.

She refused to speak to newsmen who boarded the ship. She is returning to New York after a European vacation with her mother.

She obtained a Mexican civil divorce from O'Dwyer last month, but both are seeking a Roman Catholic church annulment of their marriage. She has agreed to return to Mexico to testify before church authorities if necessary.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 — Living amidst well-designed home furnishings alone may not make a man — or sailor — happy, but it helps.

So thinks a special Navy group which has been working for nigh on three years on the problem of shipboard
"habitability" — its version of "gracious living."

It's found that harmonious, thoughtful design of tables, chairs, floor coverings and bunks all work together to make the sailor's life at sea more bearable, and sailors more efficient. Top-flight designers helped the Navy to that conclusion.

One re-designed ship, the destroyer Meredith, has modern bunks with rubber mattresses; fluorescent lighting, recreation tables, four-seat mess tables, chairs with backs and sponge-rubber seats colored turquoise blue, and linoleum in the crew's quarters.

Habitability, the Navy group concluded, should be a "major factor" in considering ship characteristics. A "vigorous campaign" to raise standards of living accommodations on ships is under way, the Navy said.

Watch Child for Overweight If There's Diabetes in Family

A question received from Mrs. Q. raises a rather complicated question concerning diabetes. She writes: "I have been told that if a parent has diabetes, the child or children would have diabetes also, especially if one of the parents has to receive insulin. My husband was taking insulin when we married and still is. Now we have a son two years old who seems perfectly normal. Will he have diabetes, too? Is it an inherited disease?"

In reply to this question, it is generally considered that diabetes is an inherited disease; a family history of diabetes can be obtained in about one-quarter of all those who are known to have it.

However, the way in which diabetes is inherited probably means that on the average only about one child in four would have the disease and the other is not carrying any tendency in that direction. If both parents have diabetes, one might expect all the children to have it also, though this is not always borne out by experience.

The question of taking insulin probably does not enter in, and quite likely there is no more chance of a child becoming diabetic if the parent is taking insulin or if he is not. Mrs. Q's son should be examined from time to time, but it will do no good to worry about his chances of developing the disease.

Hepburn Arrives In Sweden for World Title Meet

STOCKHOLM (AP).—Doug Hepburn, Canadian heavyweight lifter, arrived by air Wednesday night and joined the United States team in the world weightlifting championships at ring-side to see the Russian heavyweight ace, Ivan Uddovov, win the first world championship for Russia.

Uddovov, Olympic champion and world record holder, had little trouble defeating Kamal Mahgoub, of Egypt.

Hepburn, the giant lifter from Vancouver, has been named as the only threat to John Davis and James Bradford of the United States in the heavy-weight division.

However, he was none too happy about his chances. "I sprained my ankle," he said, "and have not been able to train for three full weeks."

"But I hope I'll be able to press 350 pounds, snatch 280 and jerk at least 350."

LeClerc Resigns Tennis Position

MONTREAL (BUP) — Dr. Georges LeClerc has resigned as non-playing captain of Canada's Davis Cup tennis team and will be succeeded by Laird Watt, former Davis Cupper and vice-president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association.

CLTA President Jim McAvity said LeClerc spent two years as captain of the team and gave pressure of business as his reason for retiring. LeClerc will continue as chairman of the Davis Cup selection committee, however.

Watt was rated one of the best doubles players in Canada in the 1930's.

WARWICK TO COACH V.P. PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — Grant Warwick, who has played for three National Hockey League teams, has been hired as coach of the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League Penitction V's for the 1953-54 season.

Worsham Leads

CHICAGO (AP)—Lew Worsham, with one golf shot, has vaulted from 20th to first place this month on the PGA money-winning list.

Worsham's 140-yard sand wedge shot for an eagle too on the last hole of the last round gave him the $25,000 top prize in the "world championship of golf" tournament at Tam O'Shanter Aug. 9.

The money boosted the Oakmont, Pa., pro to a total of $32,007 for the season.

Trail Smelter, Kimberley, Pay Top Wages

OTTAWA (CP)—The revenue department's taxation statistics review for 1951, released here today, shows that residents of Trail and Kimberley, B.C., had the highest average incomes in the country in 1951. The average was $3,486, well above that of many of the large cities. Victoria placed 22nd on the national list with an average income of $3,169.

Trail and Kimberley succeeded Lethbridge, Alta., as the area of Canada where the best average salaries are paid. Lethbridge headed the list in 1950 with an average income of $3,312.

Trail and Kimberley jumped from eighth place in 1950 to first place in 1951. Lethbridge fell from first to ninth place.

The review showed that Shawinigan Falls, Que., was in second place in 1951 with an average income of $3,433. St. John's, Nfld., was third with $3,348 and Montreal was fourth with $3,330. Vancouver was in sixth place, Toronto in 11th place and Winnipeg in 38th place.

In 1950, Montreal was in second place, followed by St. Thomas, Ont., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and St. John's.

Ottawa was in 20th place in 1951 with an average income of $3,173. However, Hull, across the Ottawa River, was in 50th place with $2,731.

Canadians paid $2,555,890,889 income tax in the government financial year which ended March 31.

Individual taxpayers forked over $1,225,275,562, while corporations came through with $1,266,556,794.

'Instigators' Returned By Reds

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A hundred fit Americans rode eagerly from Red captivity today—three of them men their buddies had feared would be kept in North Korean jails on phony charges.

One returning prisoner said 45 more Americans sentenced only a month ago to prison terms were in the Red grouping centre at nearby Kaesong, awaiting release.

Freed Americans have told of prisoners jailed by the Reds in late July when the armistice was signed on such charges as "instigating against peace." Their sentences ranged from one to three years.

However, three of the "convicted" came back in Thursday's group of 250 South Koreans and 150 Americans.

The exchange, limited to 30 days by the truce agreement, begins its last week Friday, with 144 more Americans scheduled for freedom. The Reds said they also would hand over 250 South Koreans, four British and two South Africans.

She received a majority of the votes cast in the 60-nation political committee, but fell short of the two-thirds majority required for approval by the general assembly which acts Friday.

The vote was 27 for, 21 against, 11 abstaining and India not participating.

It was a victory for the United States, which had split with Britain, Canada and other Western Allies over the issue and fought vigorously against India's inclusion.

The committee also:

1. Recommended seats at the conference for all the 16 countries who fought under the UN banner—if they desire to attend.

2. Voted to include Russia in the parley "provided the other side desires it." The vote was 55 to 2 with two abstaining.

4. Gave the United States the authority to consult with the two sides and work out arrangements as to the time and place of the conference. Geneva is generally considered the most likely site.

5. Recommended that no decisions of the conference be binding on countries which do not agree to them. This means any of the countries of the conference would have a veto.

14 COUNTRIES

Under the committee's discussions, the conference could be expected to include Red China, North Korea and Russia on the Communist side, and South Korea and probably 10 other countries on the UN side. Some of the 16 countries which sent troops to Korea have indicated they will not participate.

The 60-nation committee acted after U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge declared that Russia's attitude on the Korean parley, if persisted in, would "make peace impossible."

Lodge said Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky had made a thinly-veiled threat Wednesday that the Communists would boycott the conference unless they get their way in naming the participating countries. Vishinsky denied he had made any such threat.

The committee went on to adopt an American-backed proposal recommending that all the 16 countries who fought under the UN banner should take part in the conference if they desire.

2 Canadians Reach Sixth Round of Golf

MONTREAL (BUP)—Don Doe of Granby, Que., became the first Canadian to reach the semifinals of the national amateur golf tournament today when he eliminated Scotty Fraser, 17-year-old University of Florida student, 6 and 5.

Don Silverberg of Red Deer, Alta., scraped through with a fifth round win. Silverberg, a former national junior champion, beat J. L. Morgan, a member of the British Walker Cup team, 3 and 1.

Biggest upset of the fifth round was a 4 and 3 win by R. C. MacGregor of Scotland over Joe Carr, the British amateur champion from Dublin, Ireland. Carr, the star of the 10-man British Walker Cup team, was the pre-tournament favorite.

Survived Communist Prison Camp

Recuperating from illness caused by two years of Red captivity in China, Bishop Martin C. O'Gara rests in his St. Joseph's Hospital room. (Times photo by I. Strickland.)

'COMING OVER HERE'

Bishop Sees Reds Planning Conquest

By PETE LOUDON

"The Chinese Reds are quite convinced that they are coming over here. They have it all planned."

That is the opinion of Roman Catholic Bishop Martin Cuthbert O'Gara, 67, recently repatriated after two years in a humid, stench-filled, flea-infested prison camp in Hunan province in south-central China.

He was a political prisoner until illness set him free. Resting in St. Joseph's Hospital today, the 67-year-old Ottawa-born dignitary painted a word-picture of filth and degradation that was his most desperate trial in a life often previously touched by terror.

This was the first occasion he has been well enough to tell his story since flying here from a Hong Kong hospital, July 19.

Bishop O'Gara's long-standing feud with Communism culminated when the Reds ordered that his followers renounce Catholicism and join the puppet national church.

The bishop fought back. He posted notices of excommunication to those who deserted the church. This brought 40 jeering soldiers who herded him and five other priests into the mission chapel to watch it defiled.

He was dragged before the altar where his cross and clothing were torn from him.

A lengthy charge was read in a northern dialect unknown to him. He did recognize the phrase "arch imperialist."

Then he was jailed. For the first five or six weeks he shared the cells of the ordinary prisoners where 24 men slept on the floor of a hut.

JUST FORGOT ABOUT IT

Crooner Haymes Admits To Third Marriage

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP)—Crooner Dick Haymes today faced a new federal charge that could force his deportation after "he remembered" a brief and previously unpublished marriage.

Haymes already faces possible deportation for visiting Rita Hayworth in Hawaii.

The second charge against the Argentina-born singer came at the close of a five-hour hearing Wednesday before special immigration inquiry officer Joseph A. Dummel and examining officer Thomas J. Nolan.

The new charge accused Haymes of violating the McCarran-Walter Act by failing to notify immigration officials annually of his address and other information, prior to Feb. 1, 1953.

Haymes disclosed that when he was 21 he married Edith Harper, a singer at Chicago's Sherman Hotel, in 1930.

"It was only for two or three weeks," Haymes explained. "She divorced me in Little Rock, Ark. I had just forgotten we were ever married."

Thus actress Joanne Dru was his second wife and Nora Edgington Flynn Haymes, who now is suing him for divorce, was his third.

Whether Miss Hayworth, now romantically linked with Haymes, will become wife No. 4, remained a secret. When Haymes was asked if he was "contemplating marriage at this time," his attorney lodged an objection which was sustained.

The complete answer to Puzzle No. 22 appears today on Page 20.

LRB MOVES TO AVERT SHIP STRIKE

6,500 Seamen May Go Out

From CP and UP Dispatches

MONTREAL—The Canada labor relations board may call union and shipping company representatives together in an attempt to avert a threatened strike by some 6,500 Canadian seamen employed on inland and deep-sea ships.

This step, it was learned today in shipping circles, may be taken to avoid the threat of a coast-to-coast tie-up of more than 300 lake and sea-going vessels manned by members of the Seafarers' international Union AFL-TLC.

Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Steamships, which operate 20 coastal passenger vessels manned by SIU members, reached an agreement with the union May 21 and do not figure in the present dispute.

The strike threat arose Wednesday when the SIU announced rejection of conciliation board recommendations on the wages and working conditions of 6,500 of the union's membership of 8,000.

UNSATISFACTORY

Hal Banks, SIU international vice-president, termed the arbitration recommendations "entirely unsatisfactory" and today announced the strike vote among union members would start Monday at 11 a.m. Meanwhile, it was reported from Halifax that voting already is in progress among 1,200 seagoing members in the maritime port.

The report recommended a reduction in the seamen's work week from 56 to 48 hours on Sept. 1; to 44 hours on April 1, 1954, and to 40 hours by next August.

Officials of four shipping companies which might be affected by a strike met in Montreal today but made no comment.

A spokesman said the companies are continuing their study of the conciliation board reports. Further meetings are expected.

The shipping concerns are Canada Steamship Lines with 60 ships, the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Steamships Company with 30 SIU-manned ships, N. M. Paterson & Sons which has 32 vessels and Colonial Steamships.

61-YEAR-OLD U.S. WOMAN FLIES ATLANTIC

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Mrs. Marian Hart, 61-year-old American sportswoman, flew a single-engine sports plane non-stop across the Atlantic today in 13½ hours.

It was the first direct crossing in a small, single-engine plane from Newfoundland to Ireland since the pioneering days of trans-Atlantic flight. Mrs. Hart, from New York, said she planned the flight to save the cost of taking the wings off her Beechcraft and sending it across by ship.

Socred Hahn Winning Fight Against Mott

Social Credit George Hahn continued to gain during the recount in the federal riding of New Westminster, it was announced today.

Latest report showed Hahn leading Liberal candidate William Mott by 34 votes with the largest part of the ballots recounted.

The recounting was expected to continue at least until tonight.

Rubber Workers Strike U.S. Plants

CLEVELAND (AP)—The United Rubber Workers' Union, CIO, went on strike at Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. plants throughout the United States today. Negotiators failed to reach a new wage agreement before a midnight deadline.

Union and company representatives talked far into the morning and resume this afternoon.

Jury's Verdict Based On Wife's Testimony

GASPE, Que. (BUP)—A coroner's jury today found 37-year-old Wilbert Coffin, a Gaspe prospector, responsible for the deaths of three bear hunters from Holidaysburg, Pa., and police said he would be arraigned tomorrow on murder charges.

The verdict came after 47 minutes of deliberation after the inquest had been reopened for a brief session. His wife had testified that it was Coffin who gave her and her family some of the goods belonging to the murdered men.

Coffin had been held as a material witness while police continued their investigation. He was believed to have been the last person known to have seen the Americans alive, and he had helped police in their search of the Gaspe wilderness where the bodies were found.

Marion Petrie, who police said was commonly known as Mrs. Wilbert Coffin, told a coroner's jury that Coffin gave her an automatic pistol and gave her brother, Harold, a fuel pump two days after the three men from Holidaysburg, Pa., were slain in the Gaspe bush.

The woman also said she found two sets of towels, pair of jeans and a suitcase in her Montreal home.

They were identified as belonging to one of the murdered men, Fred Clair, by his parents, testifying at the hearing.

Mrs. Coffin said they were brought to Montreal by her husband when he went there from Gaspe on June 14.

Coffin told her, she said, that he last saw the hunting party with two other Americans and had found the fuel pump on a road en route from his Gaspe mining claims.

A garage operator identified the pump as having been sold to 17-year-old Richard Lindsey, one of the victims, on June 12. The hunters' truck had been stranded when the old fuel pump broke down.

Police said one of the 42 witnesses at the inquest would be charged with murder when it ended and a preliminary hearing would open tomorrow in Perce.

The woman had already led police to a P-38 pistol believed used to kill young Lindsey, Clair and Eugene Lindsey, 47, Richard's father.

Bodies Found Early in July

All three hunters came from Holidaysburg, Pa. Parts of their bodies were found early in July.

Scattered along a trail frequented by the Gaspe's 400-pound black bears. It was known definitely that the two younger men had been shot before the bears got to them.

The European-made pistol was found in a home in Montreal north on a tip from the mystery woman. From that discovery, police later found a pair of binoculars, a hunting knife and other equipment the slain trio had carried into the bush.

Robbery of the $1,000 elder Lindsey carried was believed to have been the motive for the grisly slayings.

Capt. J. Alphonse Matte, chief of the Quebec provincial police homicide squad, told reporters Wednesday night on the eve of the inquest:

"New facts that have not been made known so far will be disclosed at the inquest."

Weary Coast Hiker Thumbs High Ride

For nine days, Times Reporter Humphrey Davy and companion, West Umphrey, Queen's Scout, hiked the trail which ultimately the West Coast road may follow. They were footsore and weary from fighting rugged terrain. Any old ride looked good to them, so when they came to Klanawa River gulley they rode the skyhook on self-propelled bus's chair. Above, Umphrey makes crossing 20 miles south of Bamfield. (Times photo by Davy.)

27-21 Vote Bans India

U.S. Victorious in Fight On Korea Talks Membership

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—India failed today to win sufficient UN support to give her a seat at the Korean peace conference.

She received a majority of the votes cast in the 60-nation political committee, but fell short of the two-thirds majority required for approval by the general assembly which acts Friday.

The vote was 27 for, 21 against, 11 abstaining and India not participating.

It was a victory for the United States, which had split with Britain, Canada and other Western Allies over the issue and fought vigorously against India's inclusion.

The committee also:

1. Recommended seats at the conference for all the 16 countries who fought under the UN banner—if they desire to attend. The vote was 42 to 7, with 10 abstaining and India not voting.
2. Voted to include Russia in the parley "provided the other side desires it." The vote was 55 to 2 with two abstaining.
3. Gave the United States the authority to consult with the two sides and work out arrangements as to the time and place of the conference. Geneva is generally considered the most likely site.
4. Recommended that no decisions of the conference be binding on countries which do not agree to them. This means any of the countries of the conference would have a veto.

He was a political prisoner until illness set him free.

Resting in St. Joseph's Hospital today, the 67-year-old Ottawa-born dignitary painted a word-picture of filth and degradation that was his most desperate trial in a life often previously touched by terror.

Bishop O'Garra's long-standing feud with Communism culminated when the Reds ordered that his followers renounce Catholicism and join the puppet national church.

The bishop fought back.

He posted notices of excommunication to those who deserted the church. This brought 40 jeering soldiers who herded him and five other priests into the mission chapel to watch it defiled.

He was dragged before the altar where his cross and clothing were torn from him. A lengthy charge was read in a northern dialect unknown to him. He did recognize the phrase "arch imperialist."

Then he was jailed.

For the first five or six weeks he shared the cells of the ordinary prisoners where 24 men slept on the floor of a

Wife Tells Court Coffin Gave Her Hunter's Pistol

GASPE, Que. (BUP)—A coroner's jury today found 37-year-old Wilbert Coffin, a Gaspe prospector, responsible for the deaths of three bear hunters from Hollidaysburg, Pa., and police said he would be arraigned tomorrow on murder charges.

The verdict came after 47 minutes of deliberation after the inquest had been reopened for a brief session. His wife had testified that it was Coffin who gave her and her family some of the goods belonging to the murdered men.

Coffin had been held as a material witness while police continued their investigation. He was believed to have been the last person known to have seen the Americans alive, and he had helped police in their search of the Gaspe wilderness where the bodies were found.

Marion Petrie, who police said was commonly known as Mrs. Wilbert Coffin, told a coroner's jury that Coffin gave her an automatic pistol and gave her brother, Harold, a fuel pump two days after the three men from Hollidaysburg, Pa., were slain in the Gaspe bush.

The woman also said she found two sets of towels, a pair of jeans and a suitcase in her Montreal home.

They were identified as belonging to one of the murdered men, Fred Clair, by his parents, testifying at the hearing.

Mrs. Coffin said they were brought to Montreal by her husband when he went there from Gaspe on June 14.

Coffin told her, she said, that he last saw the hunting party with two other Americans and had found the fuel pump on a road en route from his Gaspe mining claims.

A garage operator identified the pump as having been sold to 17-year-old Richard Lindsey, one of the victims, on June 12. The hunters' truck had been stranded when the old fuel pump broke down.

BODIES FOUND IN JULY

All three hunters came from Hollidaysburg, Pa. Parts of their bodies were found early in July scattered along a trail frequented by the Gaspe's 400-pound black bears. It was known definitely that the two younger men had been shot before the bears got to them.

The European-made pistol was found in a home in Montreal north on a tip from the mystery woman. From that discovery, police later found a pair of binoculars, a hunting knife and other equipment the slain trio had carried into the bush.

Robbery of the $1,000 the elder Lindsey carried was believed to have been the motive for the grisly slayings.

LRB MOVES TO AVERT SHIP STRIKE

6,500 Seamen May Go Out

From CP and UP Dispatches

MONTREAL—The Canadian labor relations board may call union and shipping company representatives together in an attempt to avert a threatened strike by some 6,500 Canadian seamen employed on inland and deep-sea ships.

This step, it was learned today in shipping circles, may be taken to avoid the threat of a coast-to-coast tie-up of more than 300 lake and sea-going vessels manned by members of the Seafarers' international Union AFL-TLC.

Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Steamships, which operate 20 coastal passenger vessels manned by SIU members, reached an agreement with the union May 21 and do not figure in the present dispute.

The strike threat arose Wednesday when the SIU announced rejection of conciliation board recommendations on the wages and working conditions of 6,500 of the union's membership of 8,000.

Hal Banks, SIU international vice-president, termed the arbitration recommendations "entirely unsatisfactory" and today announced the strike vote among union members would start Monday at 11 a.m. Meanwhile, it was reported from Halifax that voting already is in progress among 1,200 seagoing members in the maritime port.

The report recommended a reduction in the seamen's work week from 56 to 48 hours on Sept. 1; to 44 hours on April 1, 1954, and to 40 hours by next August.

Officials of four shipping companies which might be affected by a strike met in Montreal today but made no comment.

A spokesman said the companies are continuing their study of the conciliation board reports. Further meetings are expected.
